Note on the Records of the General Conference

The Records of the 29th session of the General Conference are printed in three volumes:

The present volume, containing the resolutions adopted by the General Conference and the list of officers of the General Conference and of the Commissions and Committees (Volume 1);

The volume Reports, which contains the reports of Commissions I to V, the Administrative Commission and the Legal Committee (Volume 2);

The volume of Proceedings, which contains the verbatim records of plenary meetings, the list of participants and the list of documents (Volume 3).

Note on the numbering of resolutions

The numbering of the resolutions has been changed in order to distinguish resolutions concerning the organization of the session or elections (numbered from 01 to 023) from those to be implemented during the 1998-1999 biennium by the Secretariat and/or Member States (numbered from 1 to 93). It is recommended that references to resolutions be made in one of the following forms:

In the body of the text:
  ‘Resolution 31 adopted by the General Conference at its 29th session’; or \[29\text{ C/Resolution 31}\].

In passing reference:
  ‘\(29\text{ C/Resolution 31}\)’ or ‘\(29\text{ C/Res. 31}\)’.

8 Early childhood education

The General Conference,

Fully aware of United Nations goals for social development, including poverty alleviation and social integration, and of its legal instruments which note that families, supported by governments, are children’s primary caregivers and educators,

Conscious that early childhood development and education is increasingly being recognized as an essential strategy in the social development policies of nations and in ensuring the adaptation of young children in the primary education system,
Recognizing the paramount importance of community and family-based learning systems as well as of lifelong learning by both parents and children as a fundamental contribution to social cohesion and, thereby, in the prevention of exclusion and the rebuilding of fragmentized communities,

1. Resolution adopted on the report of Commission II at the 26th plenary meeting, on 11 November 1997.
Expressing satisfaction with UNESCO’s activities in this field so far, especially with the submission of the Director-General’s report (29 C/INF.8) on education in the early years as the foundation of learning,

Observing that after a necessary period of analysis and stock-taking the time is ripe for turning towards concrete action,

Convinced, more specifically, of the necessity of turning valuable ideas and successful small-scale experience into integrated low-cost services reaching large sectors of the population, and of the desirability of setting up mechanisms for transferring good practice,

Emphasizing the need for raising awareness among policy-makers and for capacity-building for early childhood education programmes,

1. Recommends that early childhood development and family education should remain an integral part of all strategies promoting basic education as defined in the recommendations of the World Conference on Education for All in Jomtien in 1990;

   (e) to mobilize UNESCO’s Fellowship Programme in order to enable early childhood policy-makers and programme managers to be professionally trained;
   (f) to ensure that both expenditure on and the outcomes of early childhood education programmes, both centre-based and home-based, will be included in international statistics and indicators, particularly in UNESCO’s International Standard Classification of Education (ISCED);
   (g) to reaffirm his commitment to early childhood education by:
      (i) ensuring an adequate number of highly competent staff;
      (ii) not only maintaining UNESCO’s action at the present level but possibly also reinforcing it;
   (h) to report on the results of these activities and the progress of early childhood education in each region to the General Conference at its 30th session;

4. Appeals to UNICEF, UNFPA, UNDP, the World Bank, the regional development banks, donor countries, NGOs, foundations, companies and other (inter)governmental, public and private partners engaged in promoting sustainable development, basic education, social welfare and social cohesion to raise the priority given to early childhood development and family education, to co-operate with UNESCO in so doing, and to assist UNESCO in developing the actions outlined above.
9 Children in difficult circumstances

The General Conference,
Taking into account the World Declaration on Education for All, which recognizes the necessity of meeting the basic learning needs of children with limited or no access to formal education,
Noting that despite the successes achieved in the combat against illiteracy, many children, especially in the developing countries, still do not have access to the benefits of education,
Noting the ever increasing number of children in difficult circumstances, in particular in the developing countries,
Considering the need to improve the living conditions of these children,
1. Welcomes the pilot educational projects for children in difficult circumstances as well as for children with special educational needs that have already been implemented;
2. Stresses the need to perpetuate this action, particularly by giving systematic consideration to the educational needs of these children in the programmes of the Organization;
3. Requests Member States and non-governmental organizations to intensify the action they are taking to secure the harmonious social integration of children in difficult circumstances.

10 Adult education in the twenty-first century

The General Conference,
Recalling and endorsing the Hamburg Declaration and the Agenda for the Future of adult learning adopted by the fifth International Conference on Adult Education (CONFINTEA V),
Referring to the 'potential contribution of adult and continuing education to the creation of an informed and tolerant citizenry, economic and social development, the promotion of literacy, the alleviation of poverty and the preservation of the environment',
Aware of the changing role of the state, which is 'not only a provider of adult education services, but also an adviser, a funder and a monitoring and evaluating agency', which obliges governments and social partners 'to support individuals in expressing their educational needs and aspirations, and in gaining access to educational opportunities throughout their lives',
Recognizing that globalization, privatization, structural adjustments to economies and debt-serving liabilities have forced cutbacks in investment in the education and other social sectors by most governments, resulting in greater hardship to those at the lower end of the socio-economic scale,
Recognizing further that the least developed countries are home to an ever-increasing proportion of the world’s illiterate population, which has risen from 15 per cent of the world’s population in 1980 to 19 per cent in 1995, and which will live in constant danger of being left behind unless serious world action is adopted,
Abiding by the commitment of the Hamburg Declaration in its closing statement which reads as follows: 'We, gathered together in Hamburg, convinced of the necessity of adult learning, pledge that all men and women will be provided with the opportunity to learn throughout their lives. To that end, we will forge extended alliances to mobilize and share resources in order to make adult learning a joy, a tool, a right and a shared responsibility'.
1. Invites the Director-General to steer an international initiative to maintain considerable support for the least developed countries which would enable them to implement the objectives of adult education in the twenty-first century in the context of the Hamburg Declaration and the Agenda for the Future of adult learning;
2. Invites Member States and other donor agencies to support literacy and adult education programmes in the least developed countries.

1. Resolution adopted on the report of Commission II at the 26th plenary meeting, on 11 November 1997.
11  Recommendation concerning the Status of Higher-Education Teaching Personnel

The General Conference,
Having examined document [29 C/1], containing the draft recommendation concerning the Status of Higher-Education Teaching Personnel,
Approves the said Recommendation in accordance with Articles 11 and 12 of the Rules of Procedure concerning recommendations to Member States and international conventions covered by the terms of Article IV, paragraph 4, of the Constitution.

Annex  Recommendation concerning the Status of Higher-Education Teaching Personnel

Preamble

The General Conference of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), meeting in Paris from 21 October to 12 November 1997, at its 29th session,

Conscious of the responsibility of states for the provision of education for all in fulfilment of Article 26 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (1948),

Recalling in particular the responsibility of the states for the provision of higher education in fulfilment of Article 13, paragraph 1(c), of the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (1966),

Conscious that higher education and research are instrumental in the pursuit, advancement and transfer of knowledge and constitute an exceptionally rich cultural and scientific asset,

Also conscious that governments and important social groups, such as students, industry and labour, are vitally interested in and benefit from the services and outputs of the higher education systems,

Recognizing the decisive role of higher-education teaching personnel in the advancement of higher education, and the importance of their contribution to the development of humanity and modern society,

Convinced that higher-education teaching personnel, like all other citizens, are expected to endeavour to enhance the observance in society of the cultural, economic, social, civil and political rights of all peoples,

Aware of the need to reshape higher education to meet social and economic changes and for higher-education teaching personnel to participate in this process,

Expressing concern regarding the vulnerability of the academic community to untoward political pressures which could undermine academic freedom,

Considering that the right to education, teaching and research can only be fully enjoyed in an atmosphere of academic freedom and autonomy for institutions of higher education and that the open communication of findings, hypotheses and opinions lies at the very heart of higher education and provides the strongest guarantee of the accuracy and objectivity of scholarship and research,

Concerned to ensure that higher-education teaching personnel enjoy the status commensurate with this role,

Recognizing the diversity of cultures in the world,

Taking into account the great diversity of the laws, regulations, practices and traditions which, in different countries, determine the patterns and organization of higher education,

Mindful of the diversity of arrangements which apply to higher-education teaching personnel in different countries, in particular according to whether the regulations concerning the public service apply to them,

Convinced nevertheless that similar questions arise in all countries with regard to the status of higher-education teaching personnel and that these questions call for the adoption of common approaches and so far as practicable the application of common standards which it is the purpose of this Recommendation to set out,

Bearing in mind such instruments as the UNESCO Convention against Discrimination in Education (1960), which recognizes that UNESCO has a duty not only to proscribe any form of discrimination in education, but also to promote equality of opportunity and treatment for all in education at all levels, including the conditions under which it is given, as well as the Recommendation concerning the Status of Teachers (1966) and the UNESCO Recommendation on the Status of Scientific Researchers (1974), as well as the instruments of the International Labour Organization on freedom of association and the right to organize and to collective bargaining and on equality of opportunity and treatment,

Desiring to complement existing conventions, covenants and recommendations contained in international standards set out in the appendix with provisions relating to problems of particular concern to higher education institutions and their teaching and research personnel,

Adopts the present Recommendation on 11 November 1997.

1. Resolution adopted on the report of Commission II at the 26th plenary meeting, on 11 November 1997.

The global objectives of international peace, understanding, co-operation and sustainable development pursued by each Member State and by the United Nations require, inter alia, education for peace and in the culture of peace, as defined by UNESCO, as well as qualified and cultivated graduates of higher education institutions, capable of serving the community as responsible citizens and undertaking effective scholarship and advanced research and, as a consequence, a corps of talented and highly qualified higher-education teaching personnel.

4. Institutions of higher education, and more particularly universities, are communities of scholars, preserving, disseminating and expressing freely their opinions on traditional knowledge and culture, and pursuing new knowledge without constriction by prescribed doctrines. The pursuit of new knowledge and its application lie at the heart of the mandate of such institutions of higher education. In higher education institutions where original research is not required, higher-education teaching personnel should maintain and develop knowledge of their subject through scholarship and improved pedagogical skills.

5. Advances in higher education, scholarship and research depend largely on infrastructure and resources, both human and material, and on the qualifications and expertise of higher-education teaching personnel as well as on their human, pedagogical and technical qualities, underpinned by academic freedom, professional responsibility, collegiality and institutional autonomy.

6. Teaching in higher education is a profession: it is a form of public service that requires of higher education personnel expert knowledge and specialized skills acquired and maintained through rigorous and lifelong study and research; it also calls for a sense of personal and institutional responsibility for the education and welfare of students and of the community at large and for a commitment to high professional standards in scholarship and research.

7. Working conditions for higher-education teaching personnel should be such as will best promote effective teaching, scholarship, research and extension work and enable higher-education teaching personnel to carry out their professional tasks.

8. Organizations which represent higher-education teaching personnel should be considered and recognized as a force which can contribute greatly to educational advancement and which should, therefore, be involved, together with other stakeholders and interested parties, in the determination of higher education policy.

9. Respect should be shown for the diversity of higher education institution systems in each Member State in accordance with its national laws and practices as well as with international standards.
IV. Educational objectives and policies

10. At all appropriate stages of their national planning in general, and of their planning for higher education in particular, Member States should take all necessary measures to ensure that:
(a) higher education is directed to human development and to the progress of society;
(b) higher education contributes to the achievement of the goals of lifelong learning and to the development of other forms and levels of education;
(c) where public funds are appropriated for higher education institutions, such funds are treated as a public investment, subject to effective public accountability;
(d) the funding of higher education is treated as a form of public investment the returns on which are, for the most part, necessarily long term, subject to government and public priorities;
(e) the justification for public funding is held constantly before public opinion.

11. Higher-education teaching personnel should have access to libraries which have up-to-date collections reflecting diverse sides of an issue, and whose holdings are not subject to censorship or other forms of intellectual interference. They should also have access, without censorship, to international computer systems, satellite programmes and databases required for their teaching, scholarship or research.

12. The publication and dissemination of the research results obtained by higher-education teaching personnel should be encouraged and facilitated with a view to assisting them to acquire the reputation which they merit, as well as with a view to promoting the advancement of science, technology, education and culture generally. To this end, higher-education teaching personnel should be free to publish the results of research and scholarship in books, journals and databases of their own choice and under their own names, provided they are the authors or co-authors of the above scholarly works. The intellectual property of higher-education teaching personnel should benefit from appropriate legal protection, and in particular the protection afforded by national and international copyright law.

13. The interplay of ideas and information among higher-education teaching personnel throughout the world is vital to the healthy development of higher education and research and should be actively promoted. To this end higher-education teaching personnel should be enabled throughout their careers to participate in international gatherings on higher education or research, to travel abroad without political restrictions and to use the Internet or video-conferencing for these purposes.

14. Programmes providing for the broadest exchange of higher-education teaching personnel between institutions, both nationally and internationally, including the organization of symposia, seminars and collaborative projects, and the exchange of educational and scholarly information should be developed and encouraged. The extension of communications and direct contacts between universities, research institutions and associations as well as among scientists and research workers should be facilitated, as should access by higher-education teaching personnel from other states to open information material in public archives, libraries, research institutes and similar bodies.

15. Member States and higher education institutions should, nevertheless, be conscious of the exodus of higher-education teaching personnel from the developing countries and, in particular, the least developed ones. They should, therefore, encourage aid programmes to the developing countries to help sustain an academic environment which offers satisfactory conditions of work for higher-education teaching personnel in those countries, so that this exodus may be contained and ultimately reversed.

16. Fair, just and reasonable national policies and practices for the recognition of degrees and of credentials for the practice of the higher education profession from other states should be established that are consistent with the UNESCO Recommendation on the Recognition of Studies and Qualifications in Higher Education of 1993.

V. Institutional rights, duties and responsibilities

A. Institutional autonomy

17. The proper enjoyment of academic freedom and compliance with the duties and responsibilities listed below require the autonomy of institutions of higher education. Autonomy is that degree of self-governance necessary for effective decision-making by institutions of higher education regarding their academic work, standards, management and related activities consistent with systems of public accountability, especially in respect of funding provided by the state, and respect for academic freedom and human rights. However, the nature of institutional autonomy may differ according to the type of establishment involved.

18. Autonomy is the institutional form of academic freedom and a necessary precondition to guarantee the proper fulfilment of the functions entrusted to higher-education teaching personnel and institutions.

19. Member States are under an obligation to protect higher education institutions from threats to their autonomy coming from any source.

20. Autonomy should not be used by higher education institutions as a pretext to limit the rights of higher-education teaching personnel provided for in this Recommendation or in other international standards set out in the appendix.

21. Self-governance, collegiality and appropriate academic leadership are essential components of meaningful autonomy for institutions of higher education.

B. Institutional accountability

22. In view of the substantial financial investments made, Member States and higher education institutions should ensure a proper balance between the level of autonomy enjoyed by higher education institutions and their systems of accountability. Higher education institutions should endeavour to open their governance in order to be accountable. They should be accountable for:

(a) effective communication to the public concerning the nature of their educational mission;
(b) a commitment to quality and excellence in their teaching, scholarship and research functions, and an obligation to protect and ensure the integrity of their teaching, scholarship and research against intrusions inconsistent with their academic missions;
(c) effective support of academic freedom and fundamental human rights;
(d) ensuring high quality education for as many academically qualified individuals as possible subject to the constraints of the resources available to them;
(e) a commitment to the provision of opportunities for lifelong learning, consistent with the mission of the institution and the resources provided;
(f) ensuring that students are treated fairly and justly, and without discrimination;
(g) adopting policies and procedures to ensure the equitable treatment of women and minorities and to eliminate sexual and racial harassment;
(h) ensuring that higher education personnel are not impeded in their work in the classroom or in their research capacity by violence, intimidation or harassment;
(i) honest and open accounting;
(j) efficient use of resources;
(k) the creation, through the collegial process and/or through negotiation with organizations representing higher-education teaching personnel, consistent with the principles of academic freedom and freedom of speech, of statements or codes of ethics to guide higher education personnel in their teaching, scholarship, research and extension work;
(l) assistance in the fulfilment of economic, social, cultural and political rights while striving to prevent the use of knowledge, science and technology to the detriment of those rights, or for purposes which run counter to generally accepted academic ethics, human rights and peace;
(m) ensuring that they address themselves to the contemporary problems facing society; to this end, their curricula, as well as their activities, should respond, where appropriate, to the current and future needs of the local community and of society at large, and they should play an important role in enhancing the labour market opportunities of their graduates;
(n) encouraging, where possible and appropriate, international academic co-operation which transcends national, regional, political, ethnic and other barriers, striving to prevent the scientific and technological exploitation of one state by another, and promoting equal partnership of all the academic communities of the world in the pursuit and use of knowledge and the preservation of cultural heritages;
(o) ensuring up-to-date libraries and access, without censorship, to modern teaching, research and information resources providing information required by higher-education teaching personnel or by students for teaching, scholarship or research;
(p) ensuring the facilities and equipment necessary for the mission of the institution and their proper upkeep;
(q) ensuring that when engaged in classified research it will not contradict the educational mission and objectives of the institutions and will not run counter to the general objectives of peace, human rights, sustainable development and environment.

23. Systems of institutional accountability should be based on a scientific methodology and be clear, realistic, cost-effective and simple. In their operation they should be fair, just and equitable. Both the methodology and the results should be open.

24. Higher education institutions, individually or collectively, should design and implement appropriate systems of accountability, including quality assurance mechanisms to achieve the above goals, without harming institutional autonomy or academic freedom. The organizations representing higher-education teaching personnel should participate, where possible, in the planning of such systems. Where state-mandated structures of accountability are established, their procedures should be negotiated, where applicable, with the institutions of higher education concerned and with the organizations representing higher-education teaching personnel.

VI. Rights and freedoms of higher-education teaching personnel

A. Individual rights and freedoms: civil rights, academic freedom, publication rights, and the international exchange of information

25. Access to the higher education academic profession should be based solely on appropriate academic qualifications, competence and experience and be equal for all members of society without any discrimination.

26. Higher-education teaching personnel, like all other groups and individuals, should enjoy those internationally recognized civil, political, social and cultural rights applicable to all citizens. Therefore, all higher-education teaching personnel should enjoy freedom of thought, conscience, religion, expression, assembly and association as well as the right to liberty and security of the person and liberty of movement. They should not be hindered or impeded in exercising their civil rights as citizens, including the right to contribute to social change through freely expressing their opinion of state policies and of policies affecting higher education. They should not suffer any penalties simply because of the exercise of such rights. Higher-education teaching personnel should not be subject to arbitrary arrest or detention, nor to torture, nor to cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment. In cases of gross violation of their rights, higher-education teaching personnel should have the right to appeal to the relevant national, regional or international bodies such as the agencies of the United Nations, and organizations representing higher-education teaching personnel should extend full support in such cases.

27. The maintaining of the above international standards should be upheld in the interest of higher education internationally and within the country. To do so, the principle of academic freedom should be scrupulously observed. Higher-education teaching personnel are entitled to the maintaining of academic freedom, that is to say, the right, without constriction by prescribed doctrine, to freedom of teaching and discussion, freedom in carrying out research and disseminating and publishing the results thereof, freedom to express freely their opinion about the institution or system in which they work, freedom from institutional censorship and freedom to participate in professional or representative academic bodies. All higher-education teaching personnel should have the right to fulfill their functions without discrimination of any kind and without fear of repression by the state or any other source. Higher-education teaching personnel can effectively do justice to this principle if the environment in which they operate is conducive, which requires a democratic atmosphere; hence the challenge for all of developing a democratic society.

28. Higher-education teaching personnel have the right to teach without any interference, subject to accepted professional principles including professional responsibility and intellectual rigour with regard to standards and methods of teaching. Higher-education teaching personnel should not be forced to instruct against their own best knowledge and conscience or be forced to use curricula and methods contrary to national and international human rights standards. Higher-education teaching personnel should play a significant role in determining the curriculum.

29. Higher-education teaching personnel have a right to carry out research work without any interference, or any suppression, in accordance with their professional responsibility and subject to nationally and internationally recognized professional principles of intellectual rigour, scientific inquiry and research ethics. They should also have the right to publish and communicate the conclusions of the research of which they are authors or co-authors, as stated in paragraph 12 of this Recommendation.

30. Higher-education teaching personnel have a right to undertake professional activities outside of their employment, particularly those that enhance their professional skills or allow for the application of knowledge to the problems of the community, provided such activities do not interfere with their primary commitments to their home institutions in accordance with institutional policies and regulations or national laws and practice where they exist.

B. Self-governance and collegiality

31. Higher-education teaching personnel should have the right and opportunity, without discrimination of any kind, according to their abilities, to take part in the governing bodies and to criticize the functioning of higher education institutions, including their own, while respecting the right of other sections of the academic community to participate, and they should also have the right to elect a majority of representatives to academic bodies within the higher education institution.

32. The principles of collegiality include academic freedom, shared responsibility, the policy of participation of all concerned in internal decision-making structures and practices, and the development of consultative mechanisms. Collegial decision-making should encompass decisions regarding the administration and determination of policies of higher education, curricula, research, extension work, the allocation of resources and other related activities, in order to improve academic excellence and quality for the benefit of society at large.

VII. Duties and responsibilities of higher-education teaching personnel

33. Higher-education teaching personnel should recognize that the exercise of rights carries with it special duties and responsibilities, including the obligation to respect the academic freedom of other members of the academic community and to ensure the fair discussion of contrary views. Academic freedom carries with it the duty to use that freedom in a manner consistent with the scholarly obligation to base research on an honest search for truth. Teaching, research and scholarship should be conducted in full accordance with ethical and professional standards and should, where appropriate, respond to contemporary problems facing society as well as preserve the historical and cultural heritage of the world.

34. In particular, the individual duties of higher-education teaching personnel inherent in their academic freedom are:

(a) to teach students effectively within the means provided by the institution and the state, to be fair and equitable to male and female students and treat those of all races and religions, as well as those with disabilities, equally, to encourage the free exchange of ideas between themselves and their students, and to be available to them for guidance in their studies. Higher-education teaching personnel should ensure, where necessary, that the minimum content defined in the syllabus for each subject is covered;
(b) to conduct scholarly research and to disseminate the results of such research or, where original research is not required, to maintain and develop their knowledge of their subject through study and research, and through the development of teaching methodology to improve their pedagogical skills;

c) to base their research and scholarship on an honest search for knowledge with due respect for evidence, impartial reasoning and honesty in reporting;

d) to observe the ethics of research involving humans, animals, the heritage or the environment;

e) to respect and to acknowledge the scholarly work of academic colleagues and students and, in particular, to ensure that authorship of published works includes all who have materially contributed to, and share responsibility for, the contents of a publication;

f) to refrain from using new information, concepts or data that were originally obtained as a result of access to confidential manuscripts or applications for funds for research or training that may have been seen as the result of processes such as peer review, unless the author has given permission;

g) to ensure that research is conducted according to the laws and regulations of the state in which the research is carried out, that it does not violate international codes of human rights, and that the results of the research and the data on which it is based are effectively made available to scholars and researchers in the host institution, except where this might place respondents in peril or where anonymity has been guaranteed;

h) to avoid conflicts of interest and to resolve them through appropriate disclosure and full consultation with the higher education institution employing them, so that they have the approval of the aforesaid institution;

i) to handle honestly all funds entrusted to their care for higher education institutions for research or for other professional or scientific bodies;

j) to be fair and impartial when presenting a professional appraisal of academic colleagues and students;

k) to be conscious of a responsibility, when speaking or writing outside scholarly channels on matters which are not related to their professional expertise, to avoid misleading the public on the nature of their professional expertise;

l) to undertake such appropriate duties as are required for the collegial governance of institutions of higher education and of professional bodies.

35. Higher-education teaching personnel should seek to achieve the highest possible standards in their professional work, since their status largely depends on themselves and the quality of their achievements.

36. Higher-education teaching personnel should contribute to the public accountability of higher education institutions without, however, forfeiting the degree of institutional autonomy necessary for their work, for their professional freedom and for the advancement of knowledge.

VIII. Preparation for the profession

37. Policies governing access to preparation for a career in higher education rest on the need to provide society with an adequate supply of higher-education teaching personnel who possess the necessary ethical, intellectual and teaching qualities and who have the required professional knowledge and skills.

38. All aspects of the preparation of higher-education teaching personnel should be free from any form of discrimination.

39. Amongst candidates seeking to prepare for a career in higher education, women and members of minorities with equal academic qualifications and experience should be given equal opportunities and treatment.

IX. Terms and conditions of employment

A. Entry into the academic profession

40. The employers of higher-education teaching personnel should establish such terms and conditions of employment as will be most conducive for effective teaching and/or research and/or scholarship and/or extension work and will be fair and free from discrimination of any kind.

41. Temporary measures aimed at accelerating de facto equality for disadvantaged members of the academic community should not be considered discriminatory, provided that these measures are discontinued when the objectives of equality of opportunity and treatment have been achieved and systems are in place to ensure the continuance of equality of opportunity and treatment.

42. A probationary period on initial entry to teaching and research in higher education is recognized as the opportunity for the encouragement and helpful initiation of the entrant and for the establishment and maintenance of proper professional standards, as well as for the individual’s own development of his/her teaching and research proficiency. The normal duration of probation should be known in advance and the conditions for its satisfactory completion should be strictly related to professional competence. If such candidates fail to complete their probation satisfactorily, they should have the right to know the reasons and to receive this information sufficiently in advance of the end of the probationary period to give them a reasonable opportunity to improve their performance. They should also have the right to appeal.
43. Higher-education teaching personnel should enjoy:
(a) a just and open system of career development including fair procedures for appointment, tenure where applicable, promotion, dismissal, and other related matters;
(b) an effective, fair and just system of labour relations within the institution, consistent with the international standards set out in the appendix.

44. There should be provisions to allow for solidarity with other institutions of higher education and with their higher-education teaching personnel when they are subject to persecution. Such solidarity may be material as well as moral and should, where possible, include refuge and employment or education for victims of persecution.

B. Security of employment

45. Tenure or its functional equivalent, where applicable, constitutes one of the major procedural safeguards of academic freedom and against arbitrary decisions. It also encourages individual responsibility and the retention of talented higher-education teaching personnel.

46. Security of employment in the profession, including tenure or its functional equivalent, where applicable, should be safeguarded as it is essential to the interests of higher education as well as those of higher-education teaching personnel. It ensures that higher-education teaching personnel who secure continuing employment following rigorous evaluation can only be dismissed on professional grounds and in accordance with due process. They may also be released for bona fide financial reasons, provided that all the financial accounts are open to public inspection, that the institution has taken all reasonable alternative steps to prevent termination of employment, and that there are legal safeguards against bias in any termination of employment procedure. Tenure or its functional equivalent, where applicable, should be safeguarded as far as possible even when changes in the organization of or within a higher education institution or system are made, and should be granted, after a reasonable period of probation, to those who meet stated objective criteria in teaching, and/or scholarship, and/or research to the satisfaction of an academic body, and/or extension work to the satisfaction of the institution of higher education.

C. Appraisal

47. Higher education institutions should ensure that:
(a) evaluation and assessment of the work of higher-education teaching personnel are an integral part of the teaching, learning and research process, and that their major function is the development of individuals in accordance with their interests and capacities;
(b) evaluation is based on academic criteria of competence in research, teaching and other academic or professional duties as interpreted by academic peers;
(c) evaluation procedures take due account of the difficulty inherent in measuring personal capacity, which seldom manifests itself in a constant and unfluctuating manner;
(d) where evaluation involves any kind of direct assessment of the work of higher-education teaching personnel, by students and/or fellow colleagues and/or administrators, such assessment is objective and the criteria and the results are made known to the individual(s) concerned;
(e) the results of appraisal of higher-education teaching personnel are also taken into account when establishing the staffing of the institution and considering the renewal of employment;
(f) higher-education teaching personnel have the right to appeal to an impartial body against assessments which they deem to be unjustified.

D. Discipline and dismissal

48. No member of the academic community should be subject to discipline, including dismissal, except for just and sufficient cause demonstrable before an independent third-party hearing of peers, and/or before an impartial body such as arbitrators or the courts.

49. All members of higher-education teaching personnel should enjoy equitable safeguards at each stage of any disciplinary procedure, including dismissal, in accordance with the international standards set out in the appendix.

50. Dismissal as a disciplinary measure should only be for just and sufficient cause related to professional conduct, for example: persistent neglect of duties, gross incompetence, fabrication or falsification of research results, serious financial irregularities, sexual or other misconduct with students, colleagues, or other members of the academic community or serious threats thereof, or corruption of the educational process such as by falsifying grades, diplomas or degrees in return for money, sexual or other favours or by demanding sexual, financial or other material favours from subordinate employees or colleagues in return for continuing employment.

51. Individuals should have the right to appeal against the decision to dismiss them before independent, external bodies such as arbitrators or the courts, with final and binding powers.

E. Negotiation of terms and conditions of employment

52. Higher-education teaching personnel should enjoy the right to freedom of association, and this right should be effectively promoted. Collective bargaining or an equivalent procedure should be promoted in accordance with the standards of the International Labour Organization (ILO) set out in the appendix.
53. Salaries, working conditions and all matters related to the terms and conditions of employment of higher-education teaching personnel should be determined through a voluntary process of negotiation between organizations representing higher-education teaching personnel and the employers of higher-education teaching personnel, except where other equivalent procedures are provided that are consistent with international standards.

54. Appropriate machinery, consistent with national laws and international standards, should be established by statute or by agreement whereby the right of higher-education teaching personnel to negotiate through their organizations with their employers, whether public or private, is assured. Such legal and statutory rights should be enforceable through an impartial process without undue delay.

55. If the process established for these purposes is exhausted or if there is a breakdown in negotiations between the parties, organizations of higher-education teaching personnel should have the right to take other steps as are normally open to other organizations in the defence of their legitimate interests.

56. Higher-education teaching personnel should have access to a fair grievance and arbitration procedure, or the equivalent, for the settlement of disputes with their employers arising out of terms and conditions of employment.

F. Salaries, workload, social security benefits, health and safety

57. All financially feasible measures should be taken to provide higher-education teaching personnel with remuneration such that they can devote themselves satisfactorily to their duties and allocate the necessary amount of time for the continuing training and periodic renewal of knowledge and skills that are essential at this level of teaching.

58. The salaries of higher-education teaching personnel should:
   (a) reflect the importance to society of higher education and hence the importance of higher-education teaching personnel as well as the different responsibilities which fall to them from the time of their entry into the profession;
   (b) be at least comparable to salaries paid in other occupations requiring similar or equivalent qualifications;
   (c) provide higher-education teaching personnel with the means to ensure a reasonable standard of living for themselves and their families, as well as to invest in further education or in the pursuit of cultural or scientific activities, thus enhancing their professional qualifications;
   (d) take account of the fact that certain posts require higher qualifications and experience and carry greater responsibilities;
   (e) be paid regularly and on time;
   (f) be reviewed periodically to take into account such factors as a rise in the cost of living, increased productivity leading to higher standards of living, or a general upward movement in wage or salary levels.

59. Salary differentials should be based on objective criteria.

60. Higher-education teaching personnel should be paid on the basis of salary scales established in agreement with organizations representing higher-education teaching personnel, except where other equivalent procedures consistent with international standards are provided. During a probationary period or if employed on a temporary basis qualified higher-education teaching personnel should not be paid on a lower scale than that laid down for established higher-education teaching personnel at the same level.

61. A fair and impartial merit-rating system could be a means of enhancing quality assurance and quality control. Where introduced and applied for purposes of salary determination it should involve prior consultation with organizations representing higher-education teaching personnel.

62. The workload of higher-education teaching personnel should be fair and equitable, should permit such personnel to carry out effectively their duties and responsibilities to their students as well as their obligations in regard to scholarship, research and/or academic administration, should provide due consideration in terms of salary for those who are required to teach beyond their regular workload, and should be negotiated with the organizations representing higher-education teaching personnel, except where other equivalent procedures consistent with international standards are provided.

63. Higher-education teaching personnel should be provided with a work environment that does not have a negative impact on or affect their health and safety and they should be protected by social security measures, including those concerning sickness and disability and pension entitlements, and measures for the protection of health and safety in respect of all contingencies included in the conventions and recommendations of ILO. The standards should be at least as favourable as those set out in the relevant conventions and recommendations of ILO. Social security benefits for higher-education teaching personnel should be granted as a matter of right.

64. The pension rights earned by higher-education teaching personnel should be transferable nationally and internationally, subject to national, bilateral and multilateral taxation laws and agreements, should the individual transfer to employment with another institution of higher education. Organizations representing higher-education teaching personnel should have the right to choose representatives to take part in the governance and administration of pension plans designed for higher-education teaching personnel where applicable, particularly those which are private and contributory.
G. Study and research leave and annual holidays

65. Higher-education teaching personnel should be granted study and research leave, such as sabbatical leave, on full or partial pay, where applicable, at regular intervals.

66. The period of study or research leave should be counted as service for seniority and pension purposes, subject to the provisions of the pension plan.

67. Higher-education teaching personnel should be granted occasional leave with full or partial pay to enable them to participate in professional activities.

68. Leave granted to higher-education teaching personnel within the framework of bilateral and multilateral cultural and scientific exchanges or technical assistance programmes abroad should be considered as service, and their seniority and eligibility for promotion and pension rights in their home institutions should be safeguarded. In addition, special arrangements should be made to cover their extra expenses.

69. Higher-education teaching personnel should enjoy the right to adequate annual vacation with full pay.

H. Terms and conditions of employment of women higher-education teaching personnel

70. All necessary measures should be taken to promote equality of opportunity and treatment of women higher-education teaching personnel in order to ensure, on the basis of equality between men and women, the rights recognized by the international standards set out in the appendix.

I. Terms and conditions of employment of disabled higher-education teaching personnel

71. All necessary measures should be taken to ensure that the standards set with regard to the conditions of work of higher-education teaching personnel who are disabled are, as a minimum, consistent with the relevant provisions of the international standards set out in the appendix.

J. Terms and conditions of employment of part-time higher-education teaching personnel

72. The value of the service provided by qualified part-time higher-education teaching personnel should be recognized. Higher-education teaching personnel employed regularly on a part-time basis should:

(a) receive proportionately the same remuneration as higher-education teaching personnel employed on a full-time basis and enjoy equivalent basic conditions of employment;

(b) benefit from conditions equivalent to those of higher-education teaching personnel employed on a full-time basis as regards holidays with pay, sick leave and maternity leave; the relevant pecuniary entitlements should be determined in proportion to hours of work or earnings;

(c) be entitled to adequate and appropriate social security protection, including, where applicable, coverage under employers’ pension schemes.

X. Utilization and implementation

73. Member States and higher education institutions should take all feasible steps to extend and complement their own action in respect of the status of higher-education teaching personnel by encouraging co-operation with and among all national and international governmental and non-governmental organizations whose activities fall within the scope and objectives of this Recommendation.

74. Member States and higher education institutions should take all feasible steps to apply the provisions spelled out above to give effect, within their respective territories, to the principles set forth in this Recommendation.

75. The Director-General will prepare a comprehensive report on the world situation with regard to academic freedom and to respect for the human rights of higher-education teaching personnel on the basis of the information supplied by Member States and of any other information supported by reliable evidence which he/she may have gathered by such methods as he/she may deem appropriate.

76. In the case of a higher education institution in the territory of a state not under the direct or indirect authority of that state but under separate and independent authorities, the relevant authorities should transmit the text of this Recommendation to institutions, so that such institutions can put its provisions into practice.

XI. Final provision

77. Where higher-education teaching personnel enjoy a status which is, in certain respects, more favourable than that provided for in this Recommendation, the terms of this Recommendation should not be invoked to diminish the status already recognized.

2 Adopted on the report of Commission III at the 26th plenary meeting, on 11 November 1997.

Bearing in mind, and without prejudice to, the international instruments which could have a bearing on the applications of genetics in the field of intellectual property, inter alia the Berne Convention for the Protection of Literary and Artistic Works of 9 September 1886 and the UNESCO Universal Copyright Convention of 6 September 1952, as last revised at Paris on 24 July 1971, the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property of 20 March 1883, as last revised at Stockholm on 14 July 1967, the Budapest Treaty of the WIPO on International Recognition of the Deposit of Micro-organisms for the Purposes of Patent Procedures of 28 April 1977, and the Trade Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights Agreement (TRIPs) annexed to the Agreement establishing the World Trade Organization, which entered into force on 1 January 1995,

Bearing in mind also the United Nations Convention on Biological Diversity of 5 June 1992 and emphasizing in that connection that the recognition of the genetic diversity of humanity must not give rise to any interpretation of a social or political nature which could call into question ‘the inherent dignity and (...) the equal and inalienable rights of all members of the human family’, in accordance with the Preamble to the Universal Declaration of Human Rights,

Recalling 22 C/Resolution 13.1, 23 C/Resolution 13.1, 24 C/Resolution 13.1, 25 C/Resolutions 5.2 and 7.3, 27 C/Resolution 5.15 and 28 C/Resolutions 0.13, 2.1 and 2.2, urging UNESCO to promote and develop ethical studies, and the actions arising out of them, on the consequences of scientific and technological progress in the fields of biology and genetics, within the framework of respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms,

Recognizing that research on the human genome and the resulting applications open up vast prospects for progress in improving the health of individuals and of humankind as a whole, but emphasizing that such research should fully respect human dignity, freedom and human rights, as well as the prohibition of all forms of discrimination based on genetic characteristics,

Proclaims the principles that follow and adopts the present Declaration.

A. Human dignity and the human genome

Article 1

The human genome underlies the fundamental unity of all members of the human family, as well as the recognition of their inherent dignity and diversity. In a symbolic sense, it is the heritage of humanity.

Article 2

(a) Everyone has a right to respect for their dignity and for their rights regardless of their genetic characteristics.

(b) That dignity makes it imperative not to reduce individuals to their genetic characteristics and to respect their uniqueness and diversity.
Article 3

The human genome, which by its nature evolves, is subject to mutations. It contains potentialities that are expressed differently according to each individual’s natural and social environment, including the individual’s state of health, living conditions, nutrition and education.

Article 4

The human genome in its natural state shall not give rise to financial gains.

B. Rights of the persons concerned

Article 5

(a) Research, treatment or diagnosis affecting an individual’s genome shall be undertaken only after rigorous and prior assessment of the potential risks and benefits pertaining thereto and in accordance with any other requirement of national law.

(b) In all cases, the prior, free and informed consent of the person concerned shall be obtained. If the latter is not in a position to consent, consent or authorization shall be obtained in the manner prescribed by law, guided by the person’s best interest.

(c) The right of each individual to decide whether or not to be informed of the results of genetic examination and the resulting consequences should be respected.

(d) In the case of research, protocols shall, in addition, be submitted for prior review in accordance with relevant national and international research standards or guidelines.

(e) If according to the law a person does not have the capacity to consent, research affecting his or her genome may only be carried out for his or her direct health benefit, subject to the authorization and the protective conditions prescribed by law. Research which does not have an expected direct health benefit may only be undertaken by way of exception, with the utmost restraint, exposing the person only to a minimal risk and minimal burden and if the research is intended to contribute to the health benefit of other persons in the same age category or with the same genetic condition, subject to the conditions prescribed by law, and provided such research is compatible with the protection of the individual’s human rights.

Article 6

No one shall be subjected to discrimination based on genetic characteristics that is intended to infringe or has the effect of infringing human rights, fundamental freedoms and human dignity.

Article 7

Genetic data associated with an identifiable person and stored or processed for the purposes of research or any other purpose must be held confidential in the conditions set by law.

Article 8

Every individual shall have the right, according to international and national law, to just reparation for any damage sustained as a direct and determining result of an intervention affecting his or her genome.

Article 9

In order to protect human rights and fundamental freedoms, limitations to the principles of consent and confidentiality may only be prescribed by law, for compelling reasons within the bounds of public international law and the international law of human rights.
C. Research on the human genome

Article 10

No research or research applications concerning the human genome, in particular in the fields of biology, genetics and medicine, should prevail over respect for the human rights, fundamental freedoms and human dignity of individuals or, where applicable, of groups of people.

Article 11

Practices which are contrary to human dignity, such as reproductive cloning of human beings, shall not be permitted. States and competent international organizations are invited to co-operate in identifying such practices and in taking, at national or international level, the measures necessary to ensure that the principles set out in this Declaration are respected.

Article 12

(a) Benefits from advances in biology, genetics and medicine, concerning the human genome, shall be made available to all, with due regard for the dignity and human rights of each individual.

(b) Freedom of research, which is necessary for the progress of knowledge, is part of freedom of thought. The applications of research, including applications in biology, genetics and medicine, concerning the human genome, shall seek to offer relief from suffering and improve the health of individuals and humankind as a whole.

D. Conditions for the exercise of scientific activity

Article 13

The responsibilities inherent in the activities of researchers, including meticulousness, caution, intellectual honesty and integrity in carrying out their research as well as in the presentation and utilization of their findings, should be the subject of particular attention in the framework of research on the human genome, because of its ethical and social implications. Public and private science policy-makers also have particular responsibilities in this respect.

Article 14

States should take appropriate measures to foster the intellectual and material conditions favourable to freedom in the conduct of research on the human genome and to consider the ethical, legal, social and economic implications of such research, on the basis of the principles set out in this Declaration.

Article 15

States should take appropriate steps to provide the framework for the free exercise of Research on the human genome with due regard for the principles set out in this Declaration, in order to safeguard respect for human rights, fundamental freedoms and human dignity and to protect public health. They should seek to ensure that research results are not used for non-peaceful purposes.

Article 16

States should recognize the value of promoting, at various levels, as appropriate, the establishment of independent, multidisciplinary and pluralist ethics committees to assess the ethical, legal and social issues raised by research on the human genome and its applications.

E. Solidarity and international co-operation

Article 17

States should respect and promote the practice of solidarity towards individuals, families and population groups who are particularly vulnerable to or affected by disease or disability of a genetic character. They should foster, \textit{inter alia}, research on the identification, prevention and treatment of genetically based and genetically influenced diseases, in particular rare as well as endemic diseases which affect large numbers of the world’s population.

\textbf{Article 18}

States should make every effort, with due and appropriate regard for the principles set out in this Declaration, to continue fostering the international dissemination of scientific knowledge concerning the human genome, human diversity and genetic research and, in that regard, to foster scientific and cultural co-operation, particularly between industrialized and developing countries.

\textbf{Article 19}

(a) In the framework of international co-operation with developing countries, states should seek to encourage measures enabling:
   (i) assessment of the risks and benefits pertaining to research on the human genome to be carried out and abuse to be prevented;
   (ii) the capacity of developing countries to carry out research on human biology and genetics, taking into consideration their specific problems, to be developed and strengthened;
   (iii) developing countries to benefit from the achievements of scientific and technological research so that their use in favour of economic and social progress can be to the benefit of all;
   (iv) the free exchange of scientific knowledge and information in the areas of biology, genetics and medicine to be promoted.

(b) Relevant international organizations should support and promote the initiatives taken by states for the above-mentioned purposes.

\textbf{F. Promotion of the principles set out in the Declaration}

\textbf{Article 20}

States should take appropriate measures to promote the principles set out in the Declaration, through education and relevant means, \textit{inter alia} through the conduct of research and training in interdisciplinary fields and through the promotion of education in bioethics, at all levels, in particular for those responsible for science policies.

\textbf{Article 21}

States should take appropriate measures to encourage other forms of research, training and information dissemination conducive to raising the awareness of society and all of its members of their responsibilities regarding the fundamental issues relating to the defence of human dignity which may be raised by research in biology, in genetics and in medicine, and its applications. They should also undertake to facilitate on this subject an open international discussion, ensuring the free expression of various sociocultural, religious and philosophical opinions.

\textbf{G. Implementation of the Declaration}

\textbf{Article 22}

States should make every effort to promote the principles set out in this Declaration and should, by means of all appropriate measures, promote their implementation.

\textbf{Article 23}

States should take appropriate measures to promote, through education, training and information dissemination, respect for the above-mentioned principles and to foster their recognition and effective application. States should also encourage exchanges and networks among independent ethics committees, as they are established, to foster full collaboration.
Article 24

The International Bioethics Committee of UNESCO should contribute to the dissemination of the principles set out in this Declaration and to the further examination of issues raised by their applications and by the evolution of the technologies in question. It should organize appropriate consultations with parties concerned, such as vulnerable groups. It should make recommendations, in accordance with UNESCO’s statutory procedures, addressed to the General Conference and give advice concerning the follow-up of this Declaration, in particular regarding the identification of practices that could be contrary to human dignity, such as germ-line interventions.

Article 25

Nothing in this Declaration may be interpreted as implying for any state, group or person any claim to engage in any activity or to perform any act contrary to human rights and fundamental freedoms, including the principles set out in this Declaration.

17 Implementation of the Universal Declaration on the Human Genome and Human Rights

The General Conference,
Considering the Universal Declaration on the Human Genome and Human Rights, which was adopted on this eleventh day of November 1997,
Noting that the considerations formulated by the Member States at the time of the adoption of the Universal Declaration are relevant for the follow-up of the Declaration,

1. Urges Member States:
   (a) in the light of the provisions of the Universal Declaration on the Human Genome and Human Rights, to take appropriate steps, including where necessary the introduction of legislation or regulations, to promote the principles set forth in the Declaration, and to promote their implementation;
   (b) to keep the Director-General regularly informed of all measures they have taken to implement the principles set forth in the Declaration;

2. Invites the Director-General:
   (a) to convene as soon as possible after the 29th session of the General Conference an ad hoc working group with balanced geographical representation, comprised of representatives of Member States, with a view to advising him on the constitution and the tasks of the International Bioethics Committee with respect to the Universal Declaration and on the conditions, including the breadth of consultations, under which it will ensure the follow-up to the said Declaration, and to report on this to the Executive Board at its 154th session;
   (b) to take the necessary steps to enable the International Bioethics Committee to ensure the dissemination and follow-up of the Declaration, and the promotion of the principles set forth therein;

1. Resolution adopted on the report of Commission III at the 26th plenary meeting, on 11 November 1997.
Social transformations and development

The General Conference,

Recognizing that efforts to solve the problems of social exclusion and social transformation are hindered by the isolation of social science research findings from operational activities to improve, strengthen and above all forge links between local institutions so as to foster more active participation for a civil society with diversified cultures and unified purposes,

Conscious of the constructive role of young people and women and of the voluntary participation of marginalized groups in the least developed countries (LDCs) in mobilization for development needs,

Realizing the need for linkage to ensure that the International Conference on Population and Development (Cairo, September 1994), the World Summit for Social Development (Copenhagen, March 1995) and the Fourth World Conference on Women (Beijing, September 1995), organized on the initiative of the United Nations, lead to action-oriented solutions, entailing:

(a) designing pilot activities for disadvantaged rural and urban areas with a view to improving the living standards of children, youth, women and families in need,

(b) supporting local and indigenous groups to ensure their active participation in developing linkages,

(c) identifying areas regarded by local communities and policy-makers as requiring improvement (e.g. basic education) or incorporation into local development activities (e.g. income-generation programmes),

(d) partnership between governmental organizations, non-governmental organizations, the private sector and local groups at all stages of research implementation and policy formulation,

Acknowledging UNESCO’s efforts, participation and involvement in international forums for human and resource development through strong links with other United Nations agencies, non-governmental organizations and local structures,

Noting the accelerating pace of social transformation caused by war disasters in LDCs in Africa and among the younger generations, caused by migration, urban integration and multicultural cohesion, and the need to help to develop local, regional and international co-operation on policy-relevant research in areas of social transformation and development, dialogue, and which also helps to secure acknowledgement for the interests of future generations,

Considering that it is necessary, as a matter of urgency, to pursue and intensify the efforts of the Member States and the Secretariat of the Organization to identify, safeguard, revitalize and promote the various forms of intangible and oral heritage, on the basis of the provisions and guidelines contained in the Recommendation on the Safeguarding of Traditional Culture and Folklore adopted by the General Conference at its 25th session,

Welcoming the convening at Marrakesh (Morocco) of the International Consultation on the Preservation of Popular Cultural Spaces (26-28 June 1997), whose conclusions highlighted the importance for Member States of spaces or forms of popular cultural expression such as Jâma’ el-Fnâ Square in Marrakesh, which has been the subject of an in-depth case-study aimed at illustrating the concept of the ‘oral heritage of humanity’,

1. Expresses its support for the activities provided for under the programme on ‘Living Human Treasures’ (29 C/4, para. 03013), which are aimed at recognizing the importance of the possessors of exceptional skills relating to areas of popular and traditional cultural expression, and at encouraging the transmission of such skills to subsequent generations;

2. Decides to highlight the importance of the intangible cultural heritage for peoples and nations by proclaiming spaces or forms of cultural expression part of the ‘oral heritage of humanity’;

3. Calls on the Member States and the international community to associate themselves with the activities to be implemented by the Organization in connection with the activities under the Programme and Budget for 1998-1999 and subsequent programmes envisaged aimed at identifying permanent spaces or forms of popular and traditional cultural expression which deserve to be proclaimed by UNESCO as symbols of the ‘oral heritage of humanity’;

4. Stresses that such spaces or forms should constitute exceptional examples of freedom and diversity of cultural expression, of social interaction, tolerance and cultural understanding, of the preservation of the collective memory, of the education of youth, of the oral transmission of universal values, of exchanges among generations and of urban integration;

5. Requests Member States and donors to make financial contributions in support of this action;

6. Invites the Director-General to prepare and submit to the Executive Board at its 154th session (May 1998) a detailed proposal concerning the criteria for the selection of such spaces or forms, the practical arrangements for international recognition thereof as part of the oral heritage of humanity, and the type of action required from the Organization, the international community and public and private donors in order to ensure the protection and promotion of such cultural spaces.

Implementation of the 1972 Convention for the Protection of the World Cultural and Natural Heritage

The General Conference,

Noting that the 1972 Convention for the Protection of the World Cultural and Natural Heritage has recognized that the cultural and natural heritage is ‘increasingly threatened with destruction, not only by traditional causes of decay, but also by changing social and economic conditions which aggravate the situation with even more formidable phenomena of damage or destruction’,

Considering the 25 years’ experience acquired in the implementation of the Convention,

Reaffirming that the ‘deterioration or disappearance of any item of the cultural or natural heritage constitutes a harmful impoverishment of the heritage of all the nations of the world’,

Also reaffirming the sovereign right of the State Party concerned over the world heritage sites on its territory, but considering also that a well thought out and formulated common policy for the protection of cultural and natural heritage is likely to create a continuing interaction between States Parties,

1. Emphasizes that it is in the interest of each State Party to be informed of the experience of others with regard to conservation methods and the possibilities so offered, through voluntary international co-operation, for the general improvement of all actions undertaken;

2. Reaffirms the standard-setting role of the General Assembly of the States Parties as well as of the World Heritage Committee;

3. Concludes that monitoring is the responsibility of the State Party concerned and that the commitment to provide periodic reports on the state of the site is consistent with the principles set out in the Convention in the first, second, sixth, seventh and eighth preambular paragraphs and in Articles 4, 6.1 and 6.2, 7, 10, 11, 13, 15, 21.3 and 29;

4. Emphasizes that that monitoring is part of site management which remains the responsibility of the States Parties on whose territory the sites are located, and that periodic reports may be submitted in accordance with Article 29 of the Convention;

5. Recalls that Article 4 of the Convention provides that ‘Each State Party ... recognizes that the duty of ensuring the identification, protection, conservation, presentation and transmission to future generations of the cultural and natural heritage ... situated on its territory belongs primarily to that state’;

6. Recalls also that Article 6 lays down the concept of world heritage ‘for whose protection it is the duty of the international community as a whole to co-operate’, and that Article 7 requires the establishment of a ‘system of international co-operation and assistance designed to support States Parties to the Convention in their efforts to conserve and identify that heritage’;

7. Emphasizes that periodic reporting should be part of a consultative process and not treated as a sanction or a coercive mechanism;

8. Notes that within the broad responsibility of the World Heritage Committee in standard-setting, the form, nature and extent of the periodic reporting must respect the principle of State sovereignty and that the involvement of the Committee, through its secretariat and/or advisory bodies, in the preparation of the periodic reports would be with the agreement of the State Party concerned;

9. Further notes that the States Parties may request expert advice from the secretariat and/or the advisory bodies and that the secretariat may also commission expert advice with the agreement of the States Parties;

10. Invites the States Parties to the Convention for the Protection of the World Cultural and Natural Heritage to submit to it in accordance with Article 29 of the Convention, through the World Heritage Committee, via its secretariat, the UNESCO World Heritage Centre, reports on the legislative and administrative provisions they have adopted and other actions which they have taken for the application of the Convention, including information on the state of conservation of the World Heritage properties located on their territories;

11. Requests the World Heritage Committee to define the periodicity, form, nature and extent of the periodic reporting on the application of the Convention and on the state of conservation of world heritage properties and to examine and respond to these reports in accordance with the principle of state sovereignty;

12. Also requests the World Heritage Committee to include in its reports to the General Conference, submitted in accordance with Article 29.3 of the Convention, its findings with regard to the application of the Convention by the States Parties;

13. Encourages States Parties to take advantage of shared information and experience on world heritage matters and to contribute to the conservation of world heritage properties, inter alia through voluntary contributions to the world heritage fund;

14. Invites other states to become States Parties to the Convention.

Follow-up to the World Decade for Cultural Development

The General Conference,

Welcoming the evaluation carried out by the Intergovernmental Committee of the World Decade for Cultural Development at its fifth regular session (21-25 April 1997) and its very positive assessment of the activities implemented within the framework of the Decade,

Taking note of the recommendations made by the Intergovernmental Committee at its fifth and final session (April 1997),

1. Expresses its satisfaction with the active participation of Member States, through the National Committees for the Decade in particular, the organizations of the United Nations system, intergovernmental organizations, non-governmental organizations and individuals in the implementation of projects aiming to promote the objectives of the Decade;

2. Takes note of the results obtained in sensitizing public and private institutions and a wide sector of public opinion throughout the world to the need for better integration of the cultural dimension in the development process;

3. Notes with satisfaction that the Draft Programme and Budget for 1998-1999 has taken account of the lessons learnt, experience gained and of the momentum generated through the Decade, and enables the achievements of the Decade to be preserved through, in particular, the follow-up to the implementation of certain major projects and activities on themes linking culture and development and through the follow-up to the report Our Creative Diversity;

4. Invites Member States, the organizations of the United Nations system, intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations, civil society and individuals to further their efforts to promote genuine implementation of the objectives of the Decade, particularly by adopting a cultural approach to the process of the elaboration and implementation of development strategies, programmes and projects in order to ensure the conditions for a sustainable human development which fully respects diversity;

5. Invites the Director-General to take the necessary measures to submit a proposal to the United Nations General Assembly to include the cultural dimension of development in the elaboration of the international strategy for the next United Nations Development Decade.

Universal Forum of Cultures - Barcelona 2004

The General Conference,

Having taken cognizance of the document submitted by Spain concerning the plans made by the city of Barcelona to prepare the Universal Forum of Cultures - Barcelona 2004 (29 C/58),

Considering with great satisfaction that the objectives of the Forum are closely linked to those contained in UNESCO’s programmes, particularly with regard to the culture of peace and intercultural dialogue,

Believing that the Forum can make a considerable contribution to the achievement of UNESCO’s objectives and to the implementation of the recommendations contained in the report of the World Commission on Culture and Development, through the values and ideals it seeks to promote, the impact it is likely to have and the innovative methods it will employ,

Noting that the organizers of the Forum are proposing that UNESCO should be their main partner and convinced that co-operation of this kind would be particularly fruitful for the attainment of common goals,

Noting in this respect that the costs of the Forum will be fully covered by its organizers and that this co-operation would therefore have no budgetary implications for UNESCO,

Considering that UNESCO could play a particularly effective part, in the framework of the objectives set forth in the Medium-Term Strategy for 1996-2001 and in the Programme and Budget for 1998-1999, both in formulating the approaches and major themes that could guide the implementation of the Forum and in mobilizing partners and networks of various kinds to ensure the Forum’s impact and influence,

1. Decides that UNESCO, in accordance with the proposal made by the organizers of the Forum, should be the main partner of the Forum throughout the various phases of the project;

2. Invites the Director-General, in accordance with the sixth preambular paragraph, to initiate the preparatory activities falling within UNESCO’s competence, on the understanding that these activities do not imply any additional costs, as indicated in the fifth preambular paragraph;

3. Also invites the Director-General, in co-operation with the organizers of the Forum and ensuring full compliance with the 1928 convention establishing the International Exhibitions Bureau, to prepare a draft framework agreement on the modalities of UNESCO’s association with the Forum, together with a plan of action, for submission to the Executive Board at one of its forthcoming sessions;

4. Further invites the Director-General to report to it at its 30th session on the implementation of this resolution.

Cultural Olympiad 2000-2004

The General Conference,

Fully aware of the objectives of the United Nations in respect of peace and social development, as they have been reaffirmed at the end of this century,

Considering that the essential mandate of UNESCO, the prime forum for the moral and intellectual solidarity of humanity, is ‘to contribute to peace and security by promoting collaboration among the nations through education, science and culture, in order to further universal respect for justice, for the rule of law and for the human rights and fundamental freedoms’ of all,

Recognizing the fundamental importance of culture as an instrument of knowledge and mutual understanding among the peoples of the whole world in their ‘creative diversity’, as clearly highlighted by the report of the Commission chaired by Javier Pérez de Cuéllar,

Stressing the resolute commitment of UNESCO to the construction of a culture of peace,

Taking note of the convergence towards one and the same ideal of projects like the Universal Forum of Cultures - Barcelona 2004,

Recalling that Greece, in its candidacy for the Olympic Games, which it will be hosting in the year 2004, committed itself to organizing the Cultural Olympiad,

Noting that the budget for the Cultural Olympiad will be fully borne by its organizers and that this operation will therefore not entail any direct or indirect expenditure for UNESCO,

1. Considers that, in conformity with the objectives of UNESCO and the Olympic ideal by virtue of the values it seeks to promote, the project for the Cultural Olympiad comes in the front rank of activities concerning the culture of peace and dialogue between cultures;

2. Decides that, in accordance with the wishes of the organizers, UNESCO will be a pre-eminent partner in the project, which will be carried out from the year 2000 to the year 2004;

3. Invites the Director-General to decide with the organizers on the forms that this co-operation will take and in particular to draw up a Memorandum of Understanding that will be submitted to the Executive Board at one of its forthcoming sessions.

29 Condemnation of violence against journalists

The General Conference,
Recalling Article 19 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, which states that ‘everyone has the right to freedom of opinion and expression; this right includes freedom to hold opinions without interference and to seek, receive and impart information and ideas through any media and regardless of frontiers’,
Confirming that freedom of expression is a fundamental right of everyone and is essential to the realization of all the rights set forth in international human rights instruments,
Also recalling the American Convention on Human Rights (Pact of San José, Costa Rica), the European Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms, the African Charter on Human and Peoples’ Rights, and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights,
Bearing in mind resolution 59(I) of the United Nations General Assembly, of 14 December 1946, in which it is stated that freedom of information is a fundamental human right, General Assembly resolution 45/76A of 11 December 1990 on information in the service of humanity, and resolution 1997/27, of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, on the right to freedom of opinion and expression,
Reaffirming that the rights to life and to liberty and integrity and security of person and also to freedom of expression are fundamental human rights that are recognized and guaranteed by international conventions and instruments,
Considering:
(a) that over the past ten years an increasing number of journalists have been assassinated for exercising their profession, a development denounced by various international organizations, and that the majority of these crimes still go unpunished,
(b) that this reality in the Americas, for example, has been corroborated by the Inter-American Press Association (IAPA) through investigations conducted in various countries and by special missions,
Mindful that, as a consequence of the Hemisphere Conference on Unpunished Crimes against Journalists convened by IAPA, several professional organizations have decided to engage in specific joint action to shed light on unpunished crimes against journalists,

Conscious that the assassination of journalists goes beyond depriving people of their lives in that it involves a curtailment of freedom of expression, with all that this implies as a limitation on the freedoms and rights of society as a whole,

1. Invites the Director-General:
   (a) to condemn assassination and any physical violence against journalists as a crime against society, since this curtails freedom of expression and, as a consequence, the other rights and freedoms set forth in international human rights instruments;
   (b) to urge that the competent authorities discharge their duty of preventing, investigating and punishing such crimes and remedying their consequences;

2. Calls upon Member States to take the necessary measures to implement the following recommendations:
   (a) that governments adopt the principle that there should be no statute of limitations for crimes against persons when these are perpetrated to prevent the exercise of freedom of information and expression or when their purpose is the obstruction of justice;
   (b) that governments refine legislation to make it possible to prosecute and sentence those who instigate the assassination of persons exercising the right to freedom of expression;
   (c) that legislation provide that the persons responsible for offences against journalists discharging their professional duties or the media must be judged by civil and/or ordinary courts.

30 Children and violence on the screen

The General Conference,

Considering that one of the principal roles of information, particularly as channelled through the modern electronic media, is to serve the educational, scientific and cultural objectives of humanity and to share knowledge, particularly among young people, often the major part of the electronic audience,

Bearing in mind the increasing amount of violent material made available through the electronic media and on international networks such as the Internet, and the easy access to these materials which is available, even to the very young,

Conscious of the absolute need to safeguard freedom of expression, as set out in Article 19 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, and bearing in mind the various international instruments adopted in support of Article 19 and of the protection of the young,

1. Requests the Member States to contribute to work carried out by the International Clearing House on Children and Violence on the Screen, established at the University of Gothenburg with the support of UNESCO, and to encourage the extension of its activities in co-operation with other universities, research centres and media organizations in pursuance of its objectives;

2. Invites professional associations of journalists and the media to draw up, where they do not yet exist, professional guidelines to reduce violence on the electronic media and on international networks such as the Internet, with the particular objective of protecting the very young, and to respect these guidelines by applying self-discipline and self-regulation.

31 Revival of the Ancient Library of Alexandria

The General Conference,

Taking into consideration the importance of the Convention for the Protection of the World Cultural and Natural Heritage which in the broadest sense includes the tangible and intangible cultural heritage in all its forms,

Taking into account the strategies proposed by UNESCO in its Medium-Term Strategy (1996-2001) in order to confront the problems and challenges of the twenty-first century and arrive at a clearer understanding of the role played by cultural factors in determining the success or failure of development strategies,

Referring to the world appeal launched by UNESCO in October 1987 for the project for the Revival of the Ancient Library of Alexandria,

Taking into consideration the efforts of the Arab Republic of Egypt to implement the project, the foundations of the new library having been completed at a total cost of US $55 million and a start having been made on the second phase, the establishment of the premises at an estimated total cost of US $117.50 million,

Urges Member States and the international community to continue to provide aid for the completion of the implementation of the project for the Revival of the Ancient Library of Alexandria in accordance with the appeal.

32 Assistance to the National and University Library of Bosnia and Herzegovina

The General Conference,

Taking into account its previous resolutions regarding the restoration of the National and University Library of Bosnia and Herzegovina in Sarajevo,

Considering the importance of such a library as a symbol of culture, freedom, coexistence and co-operation among people with different traditions and religions,

Evaluating in a positive way the reconstruction, which has already started, of this monument of culture,

1. Asks the international community and the individual states to continue and improve all initiatives aimed at the reconstruction and complete rehabilitation of the library;

2. Proposes that the library be declared a ‘Monument to Inter-Ethnic Peace in the World’ (or a ‘World Monument to Inter-Ethnic Peace’).

33 Use of permanent paper

The General Conference,

Recalling that the preservation of and access to the cultural heritage is one of UNESCO’s major concerns,

Considering that, with respect to the preservation of the tangible cultural heritage, UNESCO has initiated several international conventions and recommendations, including the Convention for the Protection of the World Cultural and Natural Heritage, and has initiated or participated in several programmes such as the ‘Memory of the World’ programme and the ‘Blue Shield’ initiative,

Considering that many of the world’s cultural, educational and scientific resources in written form on paper are endangered because the acidic paper which has been in common use for the last 150 years deteriorates in a matter of decades,

Considering that permanent paper with a life of hundreds of years is increasingly available at comparable prices,

Considering that major and costly efforts are required to salvage the most important existing publications and documents, and that these efforts could be avoided by the use of permanent paper,

Considering that the International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions (IFLA), in resolutions adopted by its Council in 1989 and 1991, recommends that UNESCO and other United Nations agencies use permanent paper in their publications and documents and that UNESCO survey the use of such paper in its Member States,

Considering that the International Council on Archives at its twelfth International Congress held in Montreal in 1992 recommended that its members encourage their governments to adopt policies promoting the use of permanent paper,

Considering that this was discussed by the PGI Intergovernmental Council and its Bureau in 1993 and 1994,

Considering that in 1989 the International Publishers Association (IPA) recommended the use of permanent paper by publishers in its affiliated national publishing associations,

Considering that the International Organization for Standardization (ISO) through its Technical Committee 46 (Information and Documentation) has adopted International Standard ISO 9706:1994 (Information and documentation - Paper for documents - Requirements for permanence),

Considering that, in a number of countries, laws or regulations have been adopted requiring the use of permanent paper in some or all official publications and documents,

1. Commends the International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions, the International Council on Archives, the International Publishers Association and the International Organization for Standardization for their efforts to promote the use of permanent paper;

2. Recommends that the Member States of UNESCO, by legislation, regulation, encouragement and example, promote the use and identification of permanent paper in their respective territories for publications and documents to be retained for historical or information purposes;

3. Invites the Director-General to ensure that UNESCO documents and publications are printed on permanent paper and carry a statement or logo to that effect, and arrange for the collection of data through the UNESCO statistical surveys on the extent to which permanent paper is being used worldwide.

Further recalling 27 C/Resolution 4.1 and in particular paragraph 2.A(a), inviting the Director-General ‘to promote the free flow of information at the international and national levels, press freedom, independent and pluralistic media, and a better balanced dissemination of information, without any obstacle to freedom of expression’,

Stressing the outstanding importance of that Seminar, which will contribute to creating conditions that will enable pluralistic media to develop and participate effectively in the democratization and development processes in the Arab region,

1. Endorses the Sana’a Declaration as it did the declarations adopted by participants in the seminars held in Windhoek (Namibia) (29 April-3 May 1991), in Almaty (Kazakhstan) (5-9 October 1992) and in Santiago (Chile) (2-6 May 1994);

2. Invites Member States to facilitate the implementation of the Sana’a Declaration and to contribute to the worldwide trends towards democracy, freedom of expression and press freedom;

3. Also invites the members of the Intergovernmental Council of the International Programme for the Development of Communication to take this Declaration into account when selecting the projects that will be financed by this programme;

4. Requests the Director-General to ensure that support and the required resources are given to activities that will facilitate the achievement of the goals and objectives of the declarations adopted by the seminars held in Windhoek, in Almaty, in Santiago and Sana’a.

Stressing the outstanding importance of that Seminar, which will contribute to creating conditions that will enable pluralistic media to develop and participate effectively in the preservation of democracy and development in this region of the world,
1. Endorses the Sofia Declaration as it did the declarations adopted by participants in the seminars held in Windhoek (Namibia) (29 April-3 May 1991), in Almaty (Kazakhstan) (5-9 October 1992) and in Santiago (Chile) (2-6 May 1994);
2. Invites Member States and the organizations concerned to follow up and implement the Sofia Declaration and to contribute to the worldwide trends towards democracy, freedom of expression and press freedom;
3. Requests the Director-General to ensure that support and the required resources are given to activities that will facilitate the achievement of the goals and objectives of all the declarations, adopted by the seminars held in Windhoek, Almaty, Santiago, Sana’a and Sofia.

36 Feasibility of an international instrument on the establishment of a legal framework relating to cyberspace and of a recommendation on the preservation of a balanced use of languages in cyberspace

The General Conference,
Having examined the preliminary report submitted by the Director-General on the feasibility of an international instrument on the establishment of a legal framework relating to cyberspace and of a recommendation on the preservation of a balanced use of languages in cyberspace (29 C/24),

Recognizing the urgent importance of establishing a framework relating to cyberspace at international level by formulating a body of educational, scientific and cultural principles and guidelines,
Convinced that UNESCO should be the organization of the United Nations system to take the intellectual lead in this area,
Stressing that full consideration and discussion should be devoted to all relevant aspects,

2. Invites the Director-General to continue the Organization’s work on legal, ethical and societal aspects of cyberspace and in particular:

The General Conference,
Recalling Resolution 3.13 relating to the Slave Route,
Having noted the recommendations adopted by the International Scientific Committee for the project at its meetings in Matanzas, Cuba (December 1995) and Cabinda, Angola (November 1996),
Recalling further the decision of the Executive Board relating to the proclamation of an ‘International Day for the Remembrance of the Slave Trade and its Abolition’ as well as EX/Decision 5.1, paragraph 70,
Having been informed of the holding in Conakry (Guinea) in March 1997 of a symposium on the theme ‘Oral Tradition and the Slave Trade’ and of a survey undertaken by the Society of African Culture on ‘Memories of Capture’,
1. Approves the establishment, on a regional, subregional and thematic basis, of networks of scientific institutions for the implementation of the research programme of the project;
2. Supports the development of the joint UNESCO-WTO cultural tourism programme on the Slave Route, notably the selection of priority areas in Africa, the Americas and the Caribbean with a view to identifying, restoring and promoting sites, monuments, and places of memory associated with the slave trade;
3. Notes with satisfaction the significant contribution of the Norwegian Agency for International Development (NORAD) to the implementation of the activities of the Slave Route project relating to the production of teaching materials, the mobilization of Associated Schools, archives on the slave trade, the presentation of places of memory, the restoration of sites associated with the slave trade and the development of cultural and artistic programmes, in particular the creation of museums on slavery in the countries concerned and the establishment of an International Studies and Research Centre on the Diaspora and its Relations with Africa (CIERDA);
4. Underlines the need to pursue in an integrated way the three major objectives of the project: the historical study of the causes and workings of the transatlantic slave trade, the clarification of the consequences and interactions to which it gave rise, and the contribution of the project to the establishment of a culture of tolerance and peaceful coexistence between races and peoples;
5. Invites Member States, non-governmental organizations, the world intellectual community and the scientific institutions concerned to participate actively in and contribute to the implementation of the Slave Route in order to enhance the universal character of the project and the role it plays in intercultural dialogue in the spirit of the culture of peace;
6. Invites the Director-General:

International Day for the Remembrance of the Slave Trade and its Abolition

The General Conference,
Bearing in mind Resolution 4/1.27, adopted in 1978, which invites the Director-General to provide moral and material assistance towards the organization, each year, of a Black Peoples’ Day,
Noting with interest the support expressed for the UNESCO Slave Route project by the Organization of African Unity (OAU) at its 28th session (Dakar, June 1992),
Recalling Resolution 3.13 in which it approved the implementation of the intercultural and interregional project on the Slave Route,

41 Museum on the Slave Trade and Slavery

The General Conference,
Recalling resolution 27 C/3.13 relating to the interregional project on the Slave Route,
Noting with satisfaction the interest shown in this project at the international level,
Welcoming the measures that have already been taken by the Organization and by many countries to implement it,
Noting that Haiti is actively participating in the work of implementation, specifically by setting up a national committee and by organizing, in December 1997, an international round table on the insurrection of 22 August 1791 in Saint-Domingue (now Haiti),
Considering that there is a need for a centre for meditation and remembrance to honour the memory of millions of men, women and children who were the victims of slavery, the slave trade and the resultant genocide - which constituted one of the greatest barbarities in the history of humanity,
Aware of the fact that Haiti was the first republic in the world to be established by former slaves, and bearing in mind the historic role played by that country in rejecting slavery,
Recognizing, therefore, the legitimacy of the initiative to set up in that country a museum on the slave trade and slavery within the framework of the Slave Route project,
Mindful of the fact that the implementation of this project opens up a whole range of possibilities of vital importance in particular for human rights, education, artistic creation and, generally, intellectual and scientific development,
Recalling, lastly, 151 EX/Decision 5.3 (A), paragraph 70, recommending that support be given, under the Programme and Budget for 1998-1999, to the project to establish a museum on slavery on the site of the Croix des Bossales Market,

UNESCO’s contribution to the fiftieth anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights

The General Conference,
Recalling that 1998 will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, which recognized the inherent dignity and equal and inalienable rights of all members of the human family as the foundation of freedom, justice and peace in the world,
Taking into consideration resolution 51/88 of the United Nations General Assembly by which the General Assembly called upon the United Nations agencies to mark the fiftieth anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights by intensifying their own contributions to United Nations system-wide efforts to promote and protect human rights,
Expressing its preoccupation that international human rights standards are not fully and universally respected and that many people are still deprived of the full enjoyment of their civil, cultural, economic, political and social rights,
Convinced that the fiftieth anniversary of the Universal Declaration should give a new impetus to the further promotion and protection of human rights and fundamental freedoms for all without distinction of any kind, such as race, colour, sex, language, religion, political or other opinion, national or social origin, property, birth or other status,
Recognizing that UNESCO should make an important contribution to the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights,
Affirming UNESCO’s leading role and responsibility in the promotion of human rights education,
Having considered the draft Plan of Action for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, approved by the Executive Board at its 152nd session,
1. Endorses the UNESCO Plan of Action for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights;
2. Invites the Director-General, in implementing the commemorative activities related to the fiftieth anniversary, to pay particular attention to the promotion of education for human rights, democracy, peace, international understanding and tolerance as well as to those rights which are within UNESCO’s fields of competence, taking into account the priority needs of the countries in transition that have started along the path of democratic reform;
3. Urges Member States, governments, parliaments, national administrations and official representatives at all levels, all educational and academic institutions, universities and research centres, non-governmental organizations and national institutions for the promotion and protection of human rights, youth organizations, representatives of public, cultural and religious life, teachers and all those who are responsible for the education and training of children and youth, and journalists of all countries to contribute to the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary by undertaking activities in order to further promote and protect human rights and fundamental freedoms.

Draft Declaration on the Human Right to Peace

The General Conference,
Bearing in mind that, in accordance with the UNESCO Constitution, ‘the purpose of the Organization is to contribute to peace and security by promoting collaboration among the nations through education, science and culture in order to further universal respect for justice, for the rule of law and for the human rights and fundamental freedoms …’,
Recalling resolution 5.12 adopted at its 28th session by which it recognized the promotion of a culture of peace as the expression of the fundamental mandate of UNESCO and as an essential and guiding objective of UNESCO’s Medium-Term Strategy for 1996-2001,
Acknowledging the intimate link between peace and human rights,
Taking note of Article 3 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights which proclaims that ‘everyone has the right to life, liberty and security of person’.

Considering that UNESCO’s role of contributing to international peace through co-operation between nations in the fields of education, science, culture and communication lies at the very heart of the culture of peace,

Noting the Declaration on the Preparation of Societies for Life in Peace adopted by the United Nations General Assembly on 15 December 1978 (resolution 33/73), which proclaimed that ‘every nation and every human being, regardless of race, conscience, language or sex, has the inherent right to life in peace’, the Declaration on the Right of Peoples to Peace adopted by the General Assembly on 12 November 1984 (resolution 39/11) as well as other General Assembly resolutions concerning the implementation of the above declarations,

Taking into consideration the United Nations General Assembly resolution 50/173 of 22 December 1995 entitled ‘United Nations Decade for Human Rights Education: towards a culture of peace’ by which the General Assembly welcomed with appreciation UNESCO’s transdisciplinary project ‘Towards a culture of peace’ and decided to encourage education for peace, human rights, democracy, international understanding and tolerance,

Recognizing that the absence of peace seriously impairs respect for human life and dignity and the full implementation of all human rights and fundamental freedoms,

Bearing in mind the Draft Declaration on the Human Right to Peace elaborated by an international experts’ meeting, organized by the Norwegian Institute for Human Rights (Oslo, Norway, 6-8 June 1997),

Bearing in mind also the ‘Report by the Director-General on the human right to peace’ (29 C/59),

1. Shares the motivations and ideas underlying the Draft Declaration;
2. Invites the Director-General:
   (a) to convene an international consultation of governmental experts to examine the matter in the light of the discussions that took place during the 29th session of the General Conference and of the replies of the Heads of State or Government;
   (b) to submit the results of this consultation to the Executive Board for examination at its 154th session within the framework of UNESCO’s participation in the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights in December 1998.

International non-governmental organizations, intergovernmental organizations and other international organizations may submit up to five requests showing an order of priority from 1 to 5 and here as well not all the requests submitted will necessarily be approved. Each request must be related to the activities of the Organization, as described under the sections of the Approved Programme and Budget concerned with major programmes, transdisciplinary projects and transverse activities, and co-operation with National Commissions. 8. Implementation:

(a) the Participation Programme will be implemented within the biennial programme of the Organization, of which it forms an integral part. Implementation of a request is the responsibility of the National Commission of a Member State, Associate Member or other applicant. The request submitted to the Director-General must show specific scheduled commencement and termination dates; an effort has been made to rationalize and simplify implementation procedures for the Participation Programme. Field units will endeavour to help Member States that so wish to draw up their requests in a manner which will enable them to be processed more effectively;

2. Invites the Director-General:
   (a) to increase in all UNESCO’s programmes recognition and awareness of the cultural dimension of development as a necessary condition for reaching families and population groups in situations of extreme poverty, in an effort to meet the goals of the Copenhagen World Summit for Social Development and of the United Nations Decade for the Eradication of Poverty;

54 Focus on the Pacific

The General Conference,
Recalling United Nations General Assembly resolution 45/202 adopted in 1991, which identified the need for ‘specific measures in favour of island developing countries’,
Further recalling Agenda 21 and Principle 1 of the Rio Declaration of 1992, which states that ‘human beings are the centre of concern of sustainable development’,
Recalling also the Programme of Action adopted by the forty-ninth session of the United Nations General Assembly arising out of the Global Conference on the Sustainable Development of Small Island Developing States, held in Barbados, in 1994,
Recalling lastly [27C/Resolution 13.11 calling for ‘co-operation with small Member States’,
Recognizing the commitment in paragraph 216 of the Medium-Term Strategy for 1996-2001 to devising and applying specific strategies to meet the special and urgent needs of certain groups of countries with common characteristics such as, inter alia, small island states,
Taking into account the recommendations of the eleventh Regional Conference of UNESCO National Commissions in Asia and the Pacific, held in the Maldives from 30 June to 4 July 1996, calling on the Director-General to acknowledge the special needs of small island states and inviting him to enhance the resources and role of UNESCO’s Section for Relations with Small Member States,
Bearing in mind that [151 EX/Decision 6.3 invited the Director-General to take appropriate measures to reinforce the human, financial and technical resources in all the offices in the Asia and the Pacific region, and further invited him to ensure that the overall level of funding in the region is further strengthened in view of the complexity and diversity of the region,
Recognizing the growth in UNESCO membership in the Pacific from five to 14 Member States since the UNESCO Office for the Pacific States was opened in Apia in 1984, and that four of these Member States (Samoa, Vanuatu, Kiribati and Tuvalu) are among the least developed countries, identified as a priority group under the Medium-Term Strategy,
Considering that the Pacific Ocean covers one third of the globe and that, while it constitutes a rich source of life for the island states within it, its vast extent signifies ever-present problems of isolation, in particular as regards transport and communication both within the Pacific and between the island states and the outside world,
Conscious that small island states of the Pacific share a number of specific characteristics, among them:
- a rich cultural and linguistic heritage,
- some of the world’s highest rates of illiteracy,
- a shortage of skilled human resources,
- vulnerability to the effects of global warming and to natural disasters, such as cyclones and volcanic eruptions,
- increasing urban migration with accompanying social problems,

1. Resolution adopted on the reports of Commissions II to V at the 26th and 27th plenary meetings, on 11 and 12 November 1997.
- the significant alienation of youth,
- limited infrastructural development in key areas such as broadcasting and telecommunications,
- the increasingly negative impact on traditional values of external values through the culture of the screen,

Recognizing that the issue for the small island states of the Pacific is their very high degree of vulnerability and low threshold of susceptibility to changes and risks - social, economic and environmental, natural and human-made hazards, and globalization - due to their isolation, smallness, openness and fragile environment, the geographic dispersion of their territory and their high population growth with rather limited resources,

Acknowledging that Focus on the Pacific, which marks the beginning of consultative meetings on the needs of small states - to be followed by Focus on the Caribbean, is a continuation of the UNESCO process of consultation (for example, the E-9 Initiative of nine high-population countries, Audience Africa and others), which has been fully endorsed by previous conferences,

Noting with deep appreciation the solidarity of the Member States of the Asia and the Pacific region in the interests of one and all, at national, subregional and regional level and the generous expression of support by Member States in the Executive Board and at the 29th session of the General Conference,

Acknowledging UNESCO’s previous contribution to the development of the Pacific in the fields of education, science, culture and communication and the recent positive assessments of the effectiveness of the UNESCO Office of the Pacific States in Apia,

Welcoming the allocations already contained in document 29 C/5 for the Pacific, in particular for continuation of the Vaka Moana programme, the development of communication, the special project on ‘Youth leadership for a culture of peace in the Pacific’, and participation in activities under the project on ‘Environment and development in coastal regions and in small islands’.

Recognizing, however, that there continue to be areas of urgent need in the Pacific within UNESCO’s spheres of competence not yet adequately addressed by the Organization, which require urgent attention in documents 29 C/5 and 30 C/5, including:

Education for development: enhancing quality living
- education for functional literacy
- educational reform for quality lifelong education for all, from primary education to higher education, but especially in secondary education
- development of science education and of vocational and technical education
- education and training of women and youth
- delivery of education and training through various forms of distance education
- the Associated Schools Project
- culture of maintenance

Environment and development: sharing with the Pacific of tomorrow
- scientific research (both natural and social science) on environmental issues, ocean resources and management, renewable and alternative energy sources and small island and coastal areas management
- sustainable development
- hydrology and water resources and management
- culture of prevention in terms of natural and human-made hazards and disasters
- environmental science education
- development of scientific and technological capacities and capabilities

Culture and development: our heritage and legacy for the future
- preservation and maintenance of the Pacific’s endangered historical, cultural, linguistic and natural heritage
- development of the world cultural heritage programme and continuation of the Vaka Moana project
- cultural identity, social transformation and globalization
- research and development of the pre-history and history of the Pacific
- culture of peace
- youth volunteers in heritage programmes

Social transformation and human development
- development of the Pacific’s most precious resource: people
- development of youth and sports programmes and databases
- construction of a network for social research and action
General resolutions

- capacity-building, including training in social science methodology
- urban migration and urban planning
- population change, family structures and migration flows
- poverty reduction, including micro-credit programmes
- coping with globalization

Communication and information for development: participation and freedom of choice
- access to appropriate communication and information technologies which have the potential, through capacity-building, to reduce isolation, facilitate the transfer of knowledge and promote regional co-operation in and across all areas of UNESCO’s mandate
- continuation of education and training for the development of indigenous media
- development of libraries and archives through communication and information technologies
- development of youth and sports databases at the University of the South Pacific
- utilization of modern communication and information technologies for the provision of education and training,

1. Requests the Director-General:
   (a) to incorporate into document 29 C/5 action to address these areas of urgent need including inter alia:
      (i) restoration of the funding allocation to the UNESCO Office for the Pacific States in Apia under Major Programme I to at least the level of funding under document 28 C/5 Approved;
      (ii) the decentralization of funds to the UNESCO Apia Office under Programme IV.2 to enable it to undertake activities relating to the development of information services (para. 04038); the upgrading of archival services (para. 04040); and the expansion of access to global information flows and the training of computer specialists, trainers and users (para. 04047);

2. Expresses its appreciation to the Director-General for initiating the Focus on the Pacific process in 1997;

3. Notes that the Pacific Member States of UNESCO, meeting at Nukualofa, Tonga, from 18 to 22 August 1997, welcomed the opportunity to participate in the Focus on the Pacific meeting;

4. Invites the Director-General to take measures:
   (a) to establish a Pacific-UNESCO Joint Committee, and in full consultation and co-operation with Pacific Member States and their National Commissions, develop a plan of action for a sustainable future for the small island states of the Pacific in the areas of the mandate of the Organization along the lines of the Focus on the Pacific meeting, held on 1 November 1997 at Headquarters;
   (b) to mobilize resources, where possible, for the implementation of the plan of action and to ensure that UNESCO, as the lead agency, implements the plan of action, in co-operation with the Pacific development partners;
   (c) to ensure that the UNESCO Office for the Pacific States plays a central role in the formulation and implementation of the plan of action, supported by the Division for Relations with National Commissions and the Section for Relations with Small Member States and assisted, where appropriate, by the Asia-Pacific Regional Offices;
   (d) to strengthen the human resources of the UNESCO Office for the Pacific States and the Section for Relations with Small Member States to a level commensurate with effective implementation of the plan of action;
   (e) to strengthen existing Pacific National Commissions in terms of training and equipment, and assist in the establishment of National Commissions where these do not exist to enable them to play their key role in the implementation of the plan of action;
   (f) to encourage and ensure greater utilization of the Participation Programme for and by Pacific Member States as a means of increasing their participation in UNESCO activities and to grant requests from Pacific Member States along the lines agreed to in the Focus on the Pacific meeting;
   (g) to report on progress in the implementation of the plan of action to the Executive Board at its 154th and 155th sessions and to the 30th session of the General Conference.

Bearing in mind the need:

(a) to strengthen existing relations between the National Commissions and the UNESCO Clubs, Centres and Associations as being instrumental in promoting the ideals of UNESCO in their respective countries,

(b) to foster the process of integration with a view to achieving greater co-operation and understanding,

Invites Member States:

(a) to develop closer links and greater exchanges of information between, on the one hand, the Federations of UNESCO Clubs, Centres and Associations and the National Commissions and, on the other hand, the UNESCO Secretariat, in particular the Division for Relations with National Commissions and UNESCO Clubs, Centres and Associations;

(b) to encourage the creation of an ex officio seat for the National Federation of UNESCO Clubs on the executive committee or its equivalent of each National Commission, with a view to reciprocal support in the activities undertaken.

61 Interregional co-operation among National Commissions

The General Conference,

Reaffirming the vital role assumed by the National Commissions as the constitutionally recognized focal points of UNESCO’s activities in Member States,

Appreciating the continued efforts of the Director-General to involve the National Commissions more and more in the Organization’s programme planning, implementation and evaluation by organizing, inter alia, consultation meetings of National Commissions on subregional, regional and interregional levels concerning the preparation of the C/4 and C/5 documents,

Recognizing that well-planned programming by National Commissions themselves is a requisite for activating participation in the programme execution of the Organization,

Stressing the need for such consultation meetings to take place in a more frequent but systematic way and, above all, for those recommendations adopted at the different consultation meetings to be adequately reflected in the decision-making process of the Organization focusing on the preparation of the forthcoming C/4 and C/5 documents,

Emphasizing the necessity of a proper mechanism in order to maximize the role of National Commissions in programme planning as well as programme execution,

1. Resolutions adopted on the report of Commission I at the 23rd plenary meeting, on 10 November 1997.
Welcoming the Director-General’s efforts to elicit the effective participation of National Commissions in the programme execution of the Organization and in the preparation of document 30 C/5.

1. Invites the Director-General to look into the possibility of holding an interregional conference of National Commissions for UNESCO during sessions of the General Conference with a view to reviewing the effective joint functioning of National Commissions at subregional and regional levels, particularly relating to the preparation of the C/4 and C/5 documents;

2. Further invites the Director-General, in collaboration with field offices, to encourage and support the networking of National Commissions on a subregional basis, it being understood that such networking will constitute a firm foundation for undertaking various joint projects among Member States in UNESCO’s fields of competence.

Co-operation with the National Commissions on the execution of the programme

The General Conference, Considering that, as stated in the Medium-Term Strategy for 1996-2001 (28 C/4 Approved), the National Commissions are the key partners of UNESCO, unique in the United Nations system, and that their role is to co-operate closely with the Organization in preparing, executing, following up and evaluating its activities and programmes in the Member States,

Taking into account the urgent need to make the National Commissions more dynamic and to revitalize and strengthen them institutionally so that they can carry out the mission assigned to them under the Constitution of UNESCO and the Charter of the National Commissions,

Bearing in mind the structural financial limitations that the National Commissions experience, faced with the increasing responsibilities and demands imposed on them by the General Conference,

Taking into account the need for closer interaction among the National Commissions of all regions, as well as between the National Commissions and the UNESCO Secretariat, including field units,

Recognizing the clear need to devise mechanisms for the development of joint strategies to be implemented by the National Commissions and to set up a systematic consultation mechanism between National Commissions and field units concerning topics or actions of a regional nature,

Supporting the creation of a Standing Committee of National Commissions, composed of their Secretaries-General and of members of the Secretariat, to be entrusted with the drawing up and monitoring of strategies to strengthen the role of the National Commissions (29 C/5, para. 13004),

Invites the Director-General:

(a) to consider new joint working procedures between the Secretariat, the field offices and the National Commissions in order to put into effect the intention to strengthen the management capacity of the National Commissions expressed in document 29 C/5;

(b) to take the necessary steps to establish, in the light of proposals on its mandate and composition to be made at the National Commissions informal regional meetings during this session of the General Conference and the regional consultation meetings on the preparation of document 30 C/3, the new Standing Committee that will propose as a matter of priority during the biennium an experimental plan for financial and technical support to the National Commissions to promote the development of UNESCO’s programme activities.

Having examined the Director-General’s report on the changes in the classification of international organizations admitted to the various types of relations with UNESCO, and questions related thereto (29 C/25 and Add.),
Taking note with appreciation of the fact that the consequent reclassification of UNESCO’s existing NGO partners has been completed and that new organizations have entered into official relations with UNESCO,
Noting with interest the action taken and proposals made in respect of the various other aspects of this reform, including the collective consultation mechanisms and the question of NGO participation in sessions of the General Conference,
1. Expresses its gratitude to the Executive Board and the Director-General for the quality of the work carried out, in compliance with the Directives, and for the flexibility shown in the current transitional period;

(b) The Director-General is authorized to accept and add to the appropriation approved under paragraph (a) above, voluntary contributions, donations, gifts, bequests and subventions, and contributions from governments towards the costs of established field units, taking into account the provisions of Article 7.3 of the Financial Regulations. The Director-General shall provide information thereon to the Members of the Executive Board in writing at the session following such action.

Obligations to be incurred

(c) Obligations may be incurred during the financial period 1 January 1998 to 31 December 1999 up to the amount appropriated under (a), in accordance with the resolutions of the General Conference and the Financial Regulations of the Organization.

Transfers

(d) The Director-General is authorized to make transfers, with the approval of the Executive Board, for the purpose of meeting increases in staff costs and in the costs of goods and services, from Part VII of the budget (Anticipated Cost Increases) to the appropriation lines concerned in Parts I to V of the budget.

(e) Transfers between appropriation lines may be made by the Director-General with the prior approval of the Executive Board.

(f) In urgent and special circumstances (i.e. unforeseeable and when immediate action is required), however, the Director-General may make transfers between appropriation lines, informing the Members of the Executive Board in writing, at the session following such action, of the details of the transfers and the reasons therefor.

(g) A clear distinction is to be made and adhered to between allocations mentioned under (e) and (f) above. In the case of transfers exceeding $50,000, substantive justification should be provided to the Executive Board on the rationale for such transfers and the financial impact on the activities affected. Transfers which affect the implementation of priorities approved by the General Conference must be submitted to the Executive Board for prior approval.
(h) With the exception in regard to Part VII of the budget, no transfers modifying the overall amounts originally approved for each appropriation line by more than 10 per cent shall be made.

(i) The budget provisions concerning the UNESCO Intergovernmental Oceanographic Commission (IOC) and the UNESCO World Heritage Centre (WHC) shall not be subject to adjustments by transfers of funds to other Parts of the budget.

Staff

(j) An amount of $313,658,650,1 including IOC and WHC, is provided in the appropriation in paragraph (a) above for established posts at Headquarters and in the field, and shall not be exceeded.

(k) Posts funded from financial allocations provided by the Organization by decision of the General Conference to the IBE (UNESCO International Bureau of Education - 24 posts), IIEP (UNESCO International Institute for Educational Planning - 39 posts) and UIE (UNESCO Institute for Education - 3 posts), are not included in the established posts referred to in paragraph (j) above, in view of the special legal identity of those institutions.

Assessment

(l) The appropriations voted under paragraph (a) above shall be financed by assessments on Member States after deduction of Miscellaneous Income. It is foreseen that Miscellaneous Income, except for support costs expected to be received from the United Nations Development Programme amounting to $2,100,000, will be used during 1998-1999 for the positive incentive scheme to encourage prompt payment of contributions. The assessments on Member States will accordingly amount to $542,267,250.

Currency fluctuation

(m) The appropriation under paragraph (a) above is expressed at the constant dollar rate of one United States dollar to 5.70 French francs and 1.45 Swiss francs, hence expenditure against this appropriation will also be recorded at the constant dollar rate. In order to account for the differences arising from the translation of expenditure incurred during the course of the financial period in French and Swiss francs at varying operational rates of exchange as compared with the constant dollar rate, a separate currency clearing account will be maintained. The differences between the operational rates of exchange at which Member States' contributions in French francs are brought to account and the rate of exchange of the French franc used to calculate the budget will also be credited or debited to this account. Any balance under the currency clearing account at the end of the biennium will be added to or deducted from Miscellaneous Income.

(n) Should France participate in the third stage of European Economic and Monetary Union (EMU) which has scheduled the option of the euro as the single European currency effective 1 January 1999, the constant dollar rate of one US dollar to 5.70 French francs will be translated into euros, by applying the conversion rate of the French franc to the euro which will be definitively fixed at the end of 1998; the currency clearing account maintained during 1999 shall record:

(i) the differences between Member States' contributions brought to account in euros during 1999 at the operational rates of exchange and at the constant rate of exchange of the euro to the dollar;

(ii) differences arising from the translation of 1999 expenditure incurred in euros, in substitution for French franc commitments, at varying operational rates of exchange as compared with the constant rate of exchange of the euro to the dollar.

1. Calculated on the basis of 2,188 posts with a lapse factor rate of 3 per cent; not including short-term temporary personnel or consultant services under the regular budget, or posts financed from extrabudgetary sources.
(o) Any balance under the currency clearing account at the end of the biennium, arising from the differences brought to account in application of the provisions of paragraphs (m) and (n) above, will be added to or deducted from Miscellaneous Income.

B. Extrabudgetary programmes

(p) The Director-General is authorized to receive funds from governments, international, regional or national organizations and individuals for the implementation of programmes and projects consistent with the aims, policies and activities of the Organization and to incur obligations for such activities in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Organization and the agreements made with funding sources.
VII Financial questions

66 Financial report and audited financial statements relating to the accounts of UNESCO for the financial period ended 31 December 1995, and report by the External Auditor

The General Conference,
Having examined document [29 C/31] and Add.,
1. Notes with appreciation the opinion of the External Auditor that the financial statements presented fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of UNESCO as at 31 December 1995 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the two-year financial period then ended; that they were prepared in accordance with the stated accounting policies, which were applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding financial period; and that the transactions that came to his notice during the audit have, in all significant respects, been in accordance with the Financial Regulations and relevant legislative authority;
2. Expresses its thanks to the External Auditor for the high standard of his work;
3. Receives and accepts the report of the External Auditor and the audited financial statements on the accounts of UNESCO for the financial period ended 31 December 1995;
4. Invites the Director-General to continue to follow up the recommendations of the External Auditor.

67 Financial report and audited financial statements relating to the United Nations Development Programme as at 31 December 1995, and report by the External Auditor

The General Conference,
Noting that the Executive Board has approved on its behalf, as authorized by [28 C/Resolution 23.3], the audited financial statements relating to the United Nations Development Programme as at 31 December 1995,
1. Receives this report and these financial statements;
2. Authorizes the Executive Board to approve, on its behalf, the report of the External Auditor together with the audited financial statements relating to the United Nations Development Programme as at 31 December 1997.

Financial report and interim financial statements relating to the accounts of UNESCO as at 31 December 1996 for the financial period ending 31 December 1997

The General Conference,

Having examined document 29 C/33 and Add.,

1. Takes note that for the first time the unaudited interim financial statements of UNESCO are presented in conformity with new United Nations Accounting Standards;
2. Further notes the financial report of the Director-General together with the interim financial statements of UNESCO as at 31 December 1996 for the financial period ending 31 December 1997.

Scale of assessments

The General Conference,

Recalling Article IX of the Constitution, which stipulates in paragraph 2 that the General Conference shall approve and give final effect to the budget and to the apportionment of financial responsibility among the States Members of the Organization,

Considering that the scale of assessments for Member States of UNESCO has always been based on that of the United Nations, subject to the adjustments necessitated by the difference in membership between the two organizations,

Resolves that:
(a) the scale of assessments of Member States of UNESCO for each of the years 1998 and 1999 shall be calculated on the basis of the scale or scales of assessments adopted by the United Nations General Assembly at its fifty-second and/or fifty-third session(s); the UNESCO scale or scales shall be established with the same minimum rate and the same maximum rate, all the other rates being adjusted to take into account the difference in membership between the two organizations in order to derive a UNESCO scale of 100 per cent;
(b) if the United Nations General Assembly approves a scale for 1999 different from that for 1998 the relevant provisions of Articles 5.3 and 5.4 of the Financial Regulations shall not be applied;
(c) new Members depositing their instruments of ratification after 21 October 1997 and Associate Members shall be assessed in accordance with the formulae set forth in 26 C/Resolution 23.1;
(d) rates of assessment for Member States shall be rounded off to the same number of decimal places as in the United Nations scale or scales; rates of assessment for Associate Members shall be rounded off to one additional decimal place, as necessary, in order to allow the effective reduction to 60 per cent of the minimum rate of assessment for Member States stipulated in 26 C/Resolution 23.1.

Currency of Member States’ contributions

The General Conference,

Having examined the report of the Director-General on the currency of contributions of Member States 29 C/33,

Recalling Article 5.6 of the Financial Regulations which stipulates that ‘contributions to the budget shall be assessed partly in United States dollars and partly in French francs in a proportion to be determined by the General Conference and shall be paid in these or other currencies as decided by the General Conference’,

Conscious of the need to reduce the exposure of the Organization to adverse currency fluctuations during 1998-1999,

1. Resolves, in respect of contributions for the years 1998 and 1999, that:
(a) contributions to the budget shall be assessed on the basis of the approved scale of assessments as follows:
(i) in French francs for 1998 and in French francs or euros as appropriate for 1999 - 61 per cent of the budget calculated at the rate of one United States dollar to 5.70 French francs, or the equivalent thereof in euros for 1999 notwithstanding the provisions of Financial Regulation 5.6;

(ii) in United States dollars - the remainder of the amount of contributions to be paid by Member States;

(b) contributions to be assessed in French francs for 1999 shall be translated into euros, if the euro replaces the French franc for international transactions at that time; contributions assessed in French francs for 1998 remaining unpaid at 31 December 1998 shall be considered as payable in euros thereafter and shall be translated into euros by applying the fixed rate of conversion of the French franc to the euro that will be decided at the end of 1998; during 1999 any contributions assessed or converted into euros may be paid in euros or the equivalent thereof in French francs at the fixed rate of conversion of the French franc to the euro;

(c) contributions shall be paid in the two currencies in which they are assessed; nevertheless payment of the amount assessed in one currency may be made, at the choice of the Member State, in the other currency of assessment; unless the amounts assessed are received simultaneously and in full in the currencies in which they are assessed, credit shall be given against contributions due in proportion to the amounts assessed in both currencies, by the application of the United Nations operational rate of exchange between the United States dollar and the French franc, or the United States dollar and the euro for 1999 as appropriate, on the date on which the contribution is credited to a bank account of the Organization;

(d) contributions to be assessed in French francs/euros for the financial period that remain unpaid at the time of assessment of contributions for the subsequent financial period shall be considered as due and payable in United States dollars thereafter and for this purpose shall be converted into United States dollars using the French franc rate of exchange, or the euro rate of exchange, as appropriate, that is most beneficial to the Organization, by reference to the following three options:

(i) the constant rate of exchange of 5.70 French francs to the dollar or, as appropriate, the equivalent rate of exchange in euro, used to calculate the French franc/euro portion of assessed contributions for the biennium;

(ii) the average rate of exchange of the French franc to the dollar during the biennium, or, as appropriate, the average rate of exchange of the euro after translation of the French franc rates of exchange into euros for 1998;

(iii) the French franc or, as appropriate, the euro rate of exchange to the dollar for December of the second year of the biennium;

(e) arrears of contributions from previous financial periods and arrears converted into annual instalments considered as due and payable in United States dollars, but received in a currency other than the United States dollar, shall be converted into United States dollars at either the most favourable rate which UNESCO can obtain for conversion of the currency in question into United States dollars on the market on the date on which the amount is credited to a bank account of the Organization or at the United Nations operational rate of exchange on the same date, whichever is more beneficial to the Organization;

(f) when contributions are received in advance in French francs during 1998 or in euros during 1999 for subsequent financial periods, such advance contributions shall be converted into United States dollars at the operational rate of exchange ruling on the date when payment is credited to a bank account of the Organization; all contributions received in advance shall be held in the name of the contributor in United States dollars, and credit shall be given against contributions due for the subsequent financial period in dollars and French francs or euros as appropriate, in the proportion determined by the General Conference, using the operational rate of exchange prevailing on the date of dispatch of letters of assessment for the first year of the following financial period;

Considering nevertheless that Member States may find it desirable to discharge part of their contributions in the currency of their choice,

2. Resolves that:

(a) the Director-General is authorized, upon request from a Member State, to accept payment in the national currency of the Member State if he considers that there is a foreseeable need for that currency in the remaining months of the calendar year;

(b) when accepting national currencies the Director-General, in consultation with the Member State concerned, shall determine that part of the contribution which can be accepted in the national currency, taking into account any amounts requested for payment of UNESCO Coupons; the Member State concerned must make a global proposal in that case;
Financial questions

(c) in order to ensure that contributions paid in national currencies will be usable by the Organization, the Director-General is authorized to fix a time-limit for payment, in consultation with the Member State concerned, after which contributions would become payable in the currencies mentioned in paragraph 1 above;

(d) acceptance of currencies other than the United States dollar or the French franc/euro is subject to the following conditions:
   (i) currencies so accepted must be usable, without further negotiation, within the exchange regulations of the country concerned, for meeting all expenditure incurred by UNESCO within that country;
   (ii) the rate of exchange to be applied shall be the most favourable rate which UNESCO can obtain for the conversion of the currency in question into United States dollars at the date at which the contribution is credited to a bank account of the Organization; after translation into United States dollars, credit shall be given against contributions for 1998-1999 where appropriate in proportion to the amounts assessed in United States dollars and French francs/euros, in the manner specified in paragraph 1 above;
   (iii) if, at any time within the 12 months following the payment of a contribution in a currency other than the United States dollar or the French franc/euro, there should occur a reduction in the exchange value or a devaluation of such currency in terms of United States dollars, the Member State concerned may be required, upon notification, to make an adjustment payment to cover the exchange loss pertaining to the unspent balance of the contribution; to the extent that the Director-General considers that there is a foreseeable need for that currency in the remaining months of the calendar year, he is authorized to accept the adjustment payment in the national currency of the Member State;
   (iv) if, at any time within the 12 months following the payment of a contribution in a currency other than the United States dollar or the French franc/euro, there should occur an increase in the exchange value or a revaluation of such currency in terms of United States dollars, the Member State concerned may require the Director-General, upon notification, to make an adjustment payment to cover the exchange gain pertaining to the unspent balance of the contribution; such adjustment payments will be made in the national currency of the Member State;

3. Resolves further that any differences due to variations in the rates of exchange not exceeding $50 relating to the last payment against contributions due for the biennium in question shall be posted to exchange profit and loss account.

71 Collection of Member States’ contributions

The General Conference,

I

Having examined the report by the Director-General on the collection of contributions of Member States (29 C/35 and Add. and Add.2) and having taken note of the up-to-date information provided during the debate of the Administrative Commission,

1. Expresses its gratitude to Member States that have paid their contributions for the financial period 1996-1997 and to those who have speeded up the payment of their contributions in response to appeals;
2. Notes that the considerable efforts made by many Member States faced with difficult internal circumstances have not been enough to prevent recourse to costly internal and external borrowing to supplement the resources of the Working Capital Fund for the purpose of financing the approved programme;
3. Strongly supports the approaches the Director-General is continuing to make to Member States with a view to obtaining timely payments of contributions;
4. Recalls again that the prompt payment of contributions is an obligation incumbent on Member States under the Constitution and the Financial Regulations of the Organization;
5. Urgently appeals to those Member States which are behind with the payment of their contributions to pay their arrears without delay and, where appropriate, to respect their payment plans;
6. Calls upon Member States to take the necessary steps to ensure that their contributions are paid in full at as early a date as possible during the financial period 1998-1999;

Noting in particular the failure of nine Member States to pay on time the amounts due by them against payment plans approved by the General Conference for settlement of their accumulated arrears in annual instalments,

7. Appeals to those Member States to settle their outstanding annual instalments at the earliest possible time as well as their regular assessed contributions;

8. Urges Member States, on receipt of the Director-General’s request for payment of assessed contributions, to inform him as promptly as possible of the probable date, amount and method of payment of the forthcoming contribution in order to facilitate his management of the Organization’s treasury function;

9. Authorizes the Director-General to negotiate and contract, as an exceptional measure, short-term loans on the best terms available, when it becomes necessary, to enable the Organization to meet its financial commitments during 1998-1999, and to limit the periods and amounts of external and internal borrowing to the strict minimum, with a view to phasing out external borrowing as soon as possible;

5. Further requests the Director-General, in co-operation with the Headquarters Committee, to update and apply existing criteria and to make arrangements to meet, to the extent possible, Member States’ requests concerning the rental of offices in Building V;

6. Strongly urges the Member States concerned to discharge their obligations by paying their rent and related expenses at the appropriate time;

7. Requests the Director-General, in co-operation with the Headquarters Committee, to submit to the Executive Board at its 155th session a report on this matter, together with the various possible solutions to the problem of recovering arrears.

Upkeep and renovation of Headquarters buildings: implementation of the Renovation Plan

The General Conference,

Having considered document [29 C/47] concerning the report by the Director-General on the implementation of the Renovation Plan for Headquarters buildings,

Having noted that in the proposals made by the Director-General pursuant to paragraph 6 of [28 C/Resolution 34], concerning the financing of essential and urgent conservation and renovation work to be carried out in 1998-1999, the remaining work, although urgent, is to be deferred to subsequent biennia,

Having noted the work to be carried out in 1998-1999 at a cost of $3.7 million, to be financed from Part V of the Budget - Maintenance and Security, from Part VI - Capital Expenditure and from the Headquarters Utilization Fund,

1. Welcomes the results achieved under the fund-raising campaign, thanks to the efforts made by the Chairperson of the Headquarters Committee, together with the members of that Committee, to obtain funds from Member States, the private sector and the host country authorities, which have resulted, among other things, in the establishment of a UNESCO/Paris City Hall working group with a view to involving the City of Paris in the renovation of the exterior of UNESCO Headquarters;

2. Expresses its gratitude to Member States, public and private organizations and individuals for their contributions to the financing of the renovation work on Headquarters buildings on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of UNESCO;

3. Notes with concern the change that has occurred in the plan relating to safety work, which does not take account of [151 EX/Decision 5.1], II, paragraph 91, and which provides for the postponement to later biennia of work that is considered equally urgent, costing, at this stage, an estimated total of US $6.5 million;

4. Invites the Director-General to investigate all possible ways of raising further funds for upkeep, conservation and renovation on the condition that that should not affect Part II of the Programme and Budget, and to report to the Executive Board at its subsequent sessions on the results of these investigations.
X Constitutional and legal questions

84 Amendment to Article V, paragraph 4(a), of the Constitution

The General Conference,
Having considered document 29 C/51 and taken note of the report of the Legal Committee (29 C/76 and Add. and Corr.),
1. Decides to add to the end of the first sentence of subparagraph (a) of paragraph 4 of Article V of the Constitution the following phrase:
   ‘except for the election that takes place during the 30th session of the General Conference, where one of the elected Member States from Electoral Group II and two of the elected Member States from Group IV, whose names shall be drawn by the President of the General Conference by lot, shall serve until the close of the 31st session of the Conference’;
2. Decides further that this amendment shall be expunged from the text of the UNESCO Constitution at the close of the 30th session of the General Conference.

85 Study concerning the problems and possible solutions regarding the Conciliation and Good Offices Commission to be responsible for seeking the settlement of any disputes which may arise between States Parties to the Convention against Discrimination in Education

The General Conference,
Having observed that no dispute has ever been laid before the Conciliation and Good Offices Commission instituted by the Protocol of 10 December 1962 to the Convention of 14 December 1960 against Discrimination in Education, Desirous that this procedure might genuinely contribute to the protection of human rights, Invites the Director-General:
   (a) to call a meeting of the Contracting States to the Protocol of 10 December 1962 during the 30th session of the General Conference in order to seek appropriate means of revitalizing and developing this procedure;
   (b) not to include the report of the Conciliation and Good Offices Commission in the documents of the General Conference until such time as it contains information relating to substantive activities on the part of the Commission.

1. Resolutions adopted on the report of the Legal Committee at the 25th plenary meeting, on 11 November 1997.
XI  Methods of work of the Organization

86 Methods of preparing the budget and budget estimates for 1998-1999
and budgeting techniques

The General Conference

1. Notes that, in preparing the Draft Programme and Budget and the Technical Annex to document 29 C/5 for 1998-1999, the Director-General complied with the budgeting techniques recommended by the Executive Board (150 EX/Decision 5.1, para. 76(a));

2. Invites the Director-General to continue to apply the same budgeting techniques in the preparation of document 50 C/3, subject to any modification or improvements that may be recommended by the Executive Board or the Director-General at a future session of the Board.

87 Structure and function of the General Conference

The General Conference,

Recalling 28 C/Resolution 37.3 by which it requested the President of the 28th session of the General Conference, in consultation with the Director-General and with the Chairperson of the Executive Board, to ‘establish an ad hoc working group whose mandate would be to examine the structure and function of the General Conference and recommend the most effective means to restore to the Conference its original function as a full-fledged policy-making body’, and reaffirming 28 C/Resolution 13.1,

Having considered document 29 C/27 and Add. 1, 2 and 3 containing the report of the working group and the Executive Board’s comments,

Taking note of the reports of Commission I (29 C/80 and Add. and Corr.) and the Legal Committee (29 C/71),

1. Endorses the recommendations of the working group, as amended:

   1. The working group recommends that wide-ranging consultations on the preparation of the work of the General Conference be held prior to sessions. In particular, regional and/or subregional meetings of National Commissions should be organized in the first year of each biennium, as was done for the preparation of the Medium-Term Strategy for 1996-2001. These meetings should be held within a reasonable time limit and focus on the overall preparation of the Draft Programme and Budget.

   2. The group, stressing the importance of maintaining the written consultation of Member States on the preparation of the Draft Programme and Budget, recommends that sufficient time be allowed for Member States to send their replies.

   3. The group recommends that the permanent delegates be associated more closely in the preparation of the decisions of the General Conference. With regard to the preparation of the

2. Resolution adopted on the report of Commission I at the 23rd plenary meeting, on 10 November 1997.
Draft Programme and Budget, the consultation of these various groups should be organized before the session of the Executive Board during which the Board examines the draft with a view to making recommendations to the General Conference. These consultations might focus primarily on the major priorities established within the budget.

4. The General Conference should invite the steering committees of intergovernmental bodies to submit observations and recommendations to it, in the fields covered by each one of them, on the Draft Programme and Budget.

5. In connection with decentralization policies, field units should be more closely associated with the preparation of the Draft Programme and Budget, in particular by gathering and updating, together with the National Commissions, relevant information on the needs and aspirations of the states they serve and by taking part in all regional and/or subregional consultation meetings on the preparation of the C/5 document.

6. The General Conference should request the Executive Board to consider on its behalf questions of less importance which are usually placed on the agenda of the Conference, including minor administrative and budgetary questions. The reports that it would submit to the General Conference on these matters should be adopted without discussion, unless a delegation requests a debate on one of them.

7. When it adopts the Programme and Budget, the General Conference should have at its disposal relevant information obtained from the evaluation of the previous Programme and Budget, that is to say, more up-to-date and more precise data than that contained in the Report of the Director-General (C/3 document). More up to date: the Secretariat should strive to provide the General Conference with information on the first 18 months of the current biennium. More precise: that information should not only be descriptive but should also contain some assessment of activities undertaken and their results.

8. The document containing the Draft Programme and Budget (C/5) should be concise, transparent, functional and exhaustive. It should propose to the General Conference genuine strategic directions, stressing the main objectives to be attained under the Medium-Term Strategy, and the priorities proposed in each major programme, specifying the main lines of action that correspond to those priorities and the budgetary resources that it is envisaged to allocate to them. Options should be submitted to the General Conference for selection. The document should also describe the main channels of the co-operation expected to take place between UNESCO and other institutions, including, in particular, extrabudgetary funding sources. This document should be adopted in its entirety by the General Conference.

9. The group recommends that paragraphs 39, 40 and 41 of this report concerning the structure and presentation of the C/5 document be implemented:

39. The new C/5 would consist of two distinct parts. The first - and most important - would include the main lines of action proposed for the different major programmes, programmes and fields of action, and the appropriation resolution, which would include the corresponding subdivisions. Each chapter would also include a short resolution summarizing the main orientations of the chapter and indicating the funds allocated for their implementation. The amount of each budget line would indicate the relative importance and degree of priority attached to each chapter or subchapter. If possible and appropriate, regional distribution might also be shown. The identification of these overall amounts would point up the different action priorities of the Organization and stimulate genuine discussion of the budget, seen not just as an overall sum of money whose rate of growth is the subject of sensitive decisions but also as a key opportunity for the General Conference to make substantive decisions within that budget.

40. This first part would be completed by several annexes reproduced in the second part of the new C/5 document:

- a first appendix would add to each of the above-mentioned budget lines indications on the extrabudgetary resources expected over the biennium and the main orientations for their use, in relation to the Programme and Budget;
- a second appendix would indicate for each of the budget lines anticipated statutory costs, staff costs, recurrent expenditure and new expenditure;
- an additional table would compare the different budget items with those in the previous budget.

1. Published in the same volume, or separately.
2. Such as secondary or higher education or intergovernmental programmes.
41. The second part would also include, as an indication and not for decision, technical details relating to programme execution (main modes of action, units responsible for implementing activities, main items of expenditure, etc.). This part would essentially be there for information purposes (which the current C/5 document is also supposed to fulfil, together with other functions which are in reality difficult to combine in a comprehensible fashion in a single document); it would make available to General Conference delegates, National Commissions and so on, detailed information in which they might be legitimately interested, independently of decisions to be taken by the General Conference.

10. It is for the Director-General to determine the measures whereby the objectives set by the General Conference are to be achieved. For that purpose he must have some flexibility to respond to unexpected circumstances and to make the adjustments called for, at the same time keeping the Executive Board at each of its sessions informed in detail about the activities that have been undertaken or that are being continued. The measures referred to in this recommendation should be in conformity with the programme adopted by the General Conference.

11. Considering the scope of new paragraph 3 of Rule 78A of the Rules of Procedure of the General Conference, amended in accordance with 28 C/Resolution 37 (para. 1), the group invites the Director-General to take the necessary measures to ensure that the Member States are aware of the criteria contained in the new paragraph, applicable as from the 29th session, for the admissibility of draft resolutions concerning the Draft Programme and Budget.

12. Rather than adopt rules limiting the number of draft resolutions that can be submitted by a Member State, and in addition to the positive results expected from the newly designed Programme and Budget, the group recommends that an appeal should be made to delegations to limit the number of draft resolutions out of their own sense of self-discipline and responsibility.

13. Rather than imposing a minimum financial requirement for admissibility of draft resolutions having budgetary implications, only draft resolutions proposing regional, subregional or interregional activities should be considered admissible.

14. The preliminary screening for admissibility of draft resolutions relating to the Draft Programme and Budget should be done by the Director-General. The request of any Member State for a reconsideration of the assessment made by the Director-General in the matter should be addressed to the General Conference, which may instruct the Legal Committee or any other body to look into that request.

15. In view of the new rules concerning admissibility, the group recommends that the time limits for submission of draft resolutions be reviewed and that a precise timetable for the examination of their admissibility be established.

16. To simplify the format of draft resolutions and to help Member States submit them in a consistent manner, the group recommends that Member States be provided by the Secretariat with an appropriate form. The proposed form should not restrict Member States’ freedom to propose amendments, but should rather help them to express their wishes in accordance with the rules in force.¹

17. The programme of work of the 28th session should be maintained: general policy debate first, to be followed by the programme commissions.

18. During the general policy debate, the heads of delegation may inter alia wish to focus on the basic thrust and orientation of the programme submitted to the General Conference for adoption.

19. The group recommends that the President of the General Conference be invited to inform the chairpersons of the programme commissions immediately of concrete proposals emanating from the general policy debate.

20. The group recommends that the President of the General Conference take part in the preparations for the following session in an advisory capacity.

21. The group recommends that increased attention be given to the experience and qualifications of the candidates proposed as President of the General Conference and chairpersons of commissions and committees, in addition to the geographical criteria normally adopted.

22. In order to give the chairpersons of the commissions more time for the preparation of their work, the group recommends that candidates for those offices no longer be proposed by the Executive Board at the session immediately preceding the General Conference but, instead, at the one before that, immediately after the Board has taken its decision on the organization of the work of the General Conference.

23. To enable the commissions to have genuine discussions and to bring significant influence to bear on developments in the Organization’s programmes, the group recommends: (i) that they devote less time to formalities for adopting the proposed programme at a given session and to examining draft resolutions; (ii) that they focus the major part of their work on the main lines of emphasis of the ensuing programme.

24. While the official proceedings of the General Conference are under way, the group recommends that seminars and round tables be organized on specific themes linked to the Organization’s activities for delegates who may wish to participate in them.

25. Similarly, but with the aim of fostering dialogue and exchanges, joint commission meetings should be organized.

26. The group recommends that Member States’ delegations to the General Conference give greater prominence to representatives of the communities interested in the problems of education, science, culture and communication. The composition of delegations to the General Conference is the responsibility of each Member State.

27. The group recommends that all the questions to be examined by each commission be covered in a single document (apart from the C/4, C/5 and C/3 documents), which would indicate clearly the main items requiring decisions.

28. In Conference documents, the Secretariat should be encouraged to use natural language which is clear and direct.

29. The group recommends that the President of a session be involved in the preparation of the decisions for the subsequent session, especially as regards documents.

30. The group recommends that the Secretariat be more rigorous in keeping deadlines for dispatching documents and that increasing recourse be made to the electronic transmission of documents.

31. The group recommends that significant improvements be made to information for delegates: both basic information and daily updates on the progress of the proceedings, particularly by improving the Journal and by designating, on an experimental basis, a Vice-President to be responsible for informing the delegates.

32. The group recommends that the General Conference attend to the ways of improving time management described in paragraph 66 of the report. In particular, it recommends that the General Conference delegate to the Executive Board certain issues relating to administrative and financial matters.

33. The group recommends that the voting system tested at the 28th session for the election of Members of the Executive Board be retained and that the results of the elections be made available at the earliest opportunity.

34. The group recommends that procedural improvements be made in elections:
   - to harmonize voting procedures;
   - to devise separate ballot papers for groups V(a) and V(b);
   - to clarify the method for calculating the majority required;
   - to adopt in plenary, without convening each of the various commissions separately, the proposals of the Nominations Committee with regard to the chairing of those commissions; and
   - to reconsider the possibility of an electronic voting system.

2. Decides to adopt the new rules, contained in Annexes A and B to the present resolution, which shall supersede all previous provisions on the same subject-matter in the Rules of Procedure of the General Conference;

3. Decides to include the Headquarters Committee in Section VII of the Rules of Procedure of the General Conference;

4. Invites the Director-General to prepare a final version of the new Rules of Procedure of the General Conference incorporating all the amendments adopted so far with such consequential modifications and updated numbering as may be necessary, and to propose such additional modifications as he may deem appropriate in order to submit them for consideration to the 30th session of the General Conference.

    2. Such Member State, however, shall have no vote in the General Conference or in any of its committees, commissions and other subsidiary organs if the total amount of contributions due from it exceeds the total amount of the contributions payable by it for the current year and the immediately preceding calendar year, unless the General Conference is satisfied that the failure to pay is due to conditions beyond the control of the Member State.

Annex B Amendments to the Rules of Procedure of the General Conference recommended by the ad hoc working group concerning which the Legal Committee felt it should recommend changes

(i) Rule 3 on ‘Invitation by Member States’: '1. Any Member State may invite the General Conference to hold a session in its territory. The Executive Board and the General Conference (instead of simply “the General Conference” in the text currently in force) shall be informed by the Director-General of all such invitations.

2. In determining the venue (instead of “seat” in the text currently in force) of the next session, the Executive Board and the General Conference shall consider only those invitations that have been communicated to the Director-General at least six weeks in advance of the opening date of the current session accompanied by detailed statements concerning local facilities’.

(ii) Rule 22 on the designation of his or her alternates by the head of a delegation: to be deleted, since the composition of a delegation is determined by each Member State.

(iii) Rule 23 on ‘Representation of Member States on commissions, committees and other subsidiary organs’: ‘The head of a delegation may designate any delegate, alternate delegate, adviser or expert in his delegation to represent his delegation in a committee, commission or other subsidiary organ of the General Conference (instead of “The head of a delegation may designate any delegate, alternate, adviser or expert in his delegation to act as a member of a committee…” in the text currently in force). Unless otherwise specified in these rules, the principal representative of a delegation on any committee, commission or other subsidiary organ of the Conference may be accompanied by such other members of his delegation as he may require to assist him; however, the committee, commission or other subsidiary organ concerned may adopt special restrictions if the nature of the business or physical conditions require them’.

(iv) Rule 26 on ‘Provisional admission to a session’:

‘Any delegate, alternate delegate, observer or representative to whose admission a Member State or Associate Member has made objection shall be seated provisionally with the same rights as other delegates, alternate delegates, observers or representatives until the Credentials Committee has reported and the General Conference has given its decision’ instead of: ‘Any delegate, representative or observer … with the same rights as other delegates, representatives or observers …’.

(v) Rule 30 on ‘Elections’:

- paragraph 1: the last sentence is transferred to Rule 31, becoming a new paragraph 3 thereof;
- in paragraph 2: replace ‘thirty-two’ by ‘thirty-six’ as recommended by the Executive Board to reflect the practice followed since the 23rd session of the General Conference (1985).

(vi) Rule 31 on ‘General powers of the President’:

a third paragraph is added to this rule, namely the sentence transferred from paragraph 1 of Rule 30:

‘The President of the General Conference shall sit ex officio in an advisory capacity on the Executive Board’.

(vii) Rule 32 on the ‘Acting President’: in paragraph 1, delete the phrase ‘each in turn in alphabetical order of the list in French of Member States’.

(viii) Rule 39 on the functions of the Legal Committee: a new subparagraph (c) has been added, the previous subparagraph (c) becoming (d):

‘1. The Committee shall consider:'
(a) Proposals for the amendment of the Constitution and of the present rules;
(b) Agenda items referred to it by the General Conference;
(c) Appeals submitted by sponsors of draft resolutions to the General Conference that have been considered inadmissible by the Director-General under Rule 86;
(d) Legal questions submitted to it by the General Conference or any of its organs. (this used to be paragraph (c)).

(ix) Rule 42 on ‘Substitute members’ of the General Committee of the General Conference:
- paragraph 1: delete;
- paragraph 2: should read as follows:

(x) Section IX: should be entitled ‘Duties of the Director-General and of the Secretariat’ instead of ‘Director-General and Secretariat’ Rules 51 and 52 are merged and the paragraphs therefore renumbered.

(xi) Rule 56 on the ‘Use of working languages’: the first sentence should read as follows:
  ‘All documents except the Journal of the General Conference shall be issued in the working languages’.

Rules 54 to 58 should be reordered as follows: 54, 58, 56, 55 and 57.

(xii) Rule 65 on the right to speak of Member States and Associate Members: to be deleted.

(xiii) Rules 66 to 72 on the right to speak of other bodies: insert after Rule 73.

(xiv) Rule 73 on the quorum: paragraph 1 should read as follows:
  ‘The President may declare a plenary meeting open and permit the debate to proceed when at least one third of the representatives of Member States participating in the General Conference are present. The presence of at least one third of the representatives of Member States participating in the General Conference shall be considered as sufficient to reach the quorum’.

Rules 74 and 75 on speeches: these two rules to be merged, to read as follows:
  ‘1. The President shall call upon speakers in the order in which they signify their wish to speak.
   2. No one may address the General Conference without being called upon by the President.
   3. The President may call a speaker to order if his remarks are not relevant to the subject under discussion.
   4. The Chairman or the Rapporteur of a committee, commission or other subsidiary organ may be accorded precedence for the purpose of submitting or upholding the report of the committee, commission, or subsidiary organ’.

Rule 85 on provisions concerning the admissibility of draft resolutions and amendments to the Draft Programme and Budget: this rule should read as follows:
‘1. Draft resolutions proposing the adoption by the General Conference of amendments to the Draft Programme and Budget must relate to those parts of the Draft Programme and Budget which require decisions of the General Conference, including (instead of “in particular to”) the proposed resolutions determining the policies and the main lines of work of the Organization and the draft appropriation resolution.

2. Draft resolutions covered by paragraph 1 of this rule shall be submitted in writing and shall reach the Director-General at least 45 days before the opening of the session of the General Conference; the Director-General shall communicate them, with such notes as he may deem appropriate, to Member States and Associate Members at least 20 days before the opening of the session.

3. Draft resolutions which do not satisfy the requirements laid down in paragraphs 1 and 2 of this rule and (instead of “including”) those proposing activities which are purely national in scope or could be (instead of “are susceptible of being”) financed under the Participation Programme, shall not be admissible’.

(xvii) Rule 86 on the examination of admissibility of draft resolutions, which should read as follows:
  ‘The Director-General shall examine draft resolutions to determine admissibility and the draft resolutions he considers inadmissible shall not be translated or distributed. The sponsors of these draft resolutions can submit an appeal to the General Conference through its Legal Committee. To consider these appeals the Legal Committee may be convened as soon as necessary’.

(xviii) Rules 84 to 87 are grouped under a Section XV entitled: ‘Draft resolutions and amendments’. Rule 84 is entitled ‘General provisions’ and Rule 85 ‘Admissibility criteria’.

(xix) Rule 92 on the ‘Vote’: this rule could read as follows:
  ‘The normal method by which decisions of the General Conference are adopted shall be by a vote. Except as otherwise provided for in these rules, voting shall be by show of hands. The President may, if satisfied that there is a consensus (instead of “after having taken the sense of the meeting”) on a proposal or motion, propose the adoption of a decision without a vote. However, a proposal or motion before the General Conference for decision shall be voted upon if a Member State so requests’.

(xx) Rule 99 on the ‘Secret ballot’: in paragraph 1, insert ‘vote for the’ before the word ‘appointment’.

(xxi) Rule 100 on ‘Procedures’: as in Rule 99, insert ‘vote for the’ before the word ‘appointment’.

Appendix 1 on ‘Procedure for the conduct of elections by secret ballot’
Methods of work of the Organization

- Rule 4: replace ‘by inserting the plus sign (+) in the box appearing opposite the name of each candidate, in this way: [+’] by ‘by inserting a cross sign (x) in the box appearing opposite the name of each candidate, in this way: [x]’.

- Rule 16: delete the word ‘Immediately’ so that the rule reads as follows: ‘After the declaration of the results of the ballot, the ballot papers shall be destroyed in the presence of the tellers’.

(xiii) Appendix 2 concerning the ‘Procedure for the election of Members of the Executive Board’
- The heading of Part II should read: ‘Provisions (instead of “Special provisions”) governing the procedure for the election of Member States to the Executive Board’.
- Rule 9 should read as follows: ‘The ballot paper to elect Member States for each electoral group shall be of a different colour from the others and bear the names of all the Member States that are candidates for election in that electoral group. The voters shall indicate the candidates for which they wish to vote “by inserting a cross sign (x) in the box appearing opposite the name of each candidate, in this way: [x]” (instead of “by inserting the plus sign (+) in the box appearing opposite the name of each candidate in this way: [+”). This sign will be considered as an affirmative vote in favour of the candidate so indicated. The ballot paper shall carry no other notation or sign than those required for the purpose of indicating the vote’.
- Rule 19 should read as follows: ‘The counting of the votes for each electoral group shall take place separately. The tellers shall open the envelopes, one by one, and shall sort the ballot papers into electoral groups. The votes cast for the candidate Member States shall be entered on the lists prepared for that purpose’.

88 Working methods of the Executive Board

The General Conference, Appreciating the results of the ad hoc working group on the structure and function of the General Conference [29 C/27 and Add.1], Believing that the reform is an ongoing process which must encompass all the organs mentioned in Article III of the Constitution, namely the General Conference, the Executive Board and the Secretariat, Mindful of the Executive Board’s responsibility to fulfil its mandate according to Article V.B of the Constitution, 1. Recommends that the Executive Board continue and expand the process of reform of its working methods, following the appropriate procedures, and make full use of the knowledge of experts from Member States non-Members of the Executive Board. The reform process should aim at making it possible for the Executive Board to fulfil its mandate effectively and efficiently;
